

WE NOMINATE

Audrée Phipps Estey, the imaginative and highly effective founder and artistic director of the Princeton Ballet Society, who in large measure is responsible for one of the most significant dance weekends ever to take place in New Jersey. This week, thanks to Mrs. Estey's foresight and leadership, dancers from 23 regional ballet companies and noted dance personalities from all parts of the country will converge upon McCarter Theatre for the four-day Ninth Annual Northeast Regional Ballet Festival, an event looked upon by dance enthusiasts as the equivalent of baseball's World Series or horse-racing's Kentucky Derby.

Endowed with a deep and eloquent love of dance, and with marked talent as a dancer in her own right, this 57-year old Canadian, a native of Winnipeg, has been making the dance an integral part of the lives of more and more young Princetonians for the past three decades. The wife of a distinguished teacher at The Lawrenceville School, she started her classes in the home of Lawrenceville's Headmaster. As her classes grew and her enthusiasm caught hold, her "school" moved from the Lawrenceville Campus to the late Robert Oppenheimer's garage, to Rose Cottage (adjoining the "old Borough Hall"), to the old "Y," the Unitarian Church and, finally, from McCarter Theatre's rehearsal hall, to the present facilities at 262 Alexander Street.

Mrs. Estey, wishing to expand the opportunities for dance among young people whose talents might lead them to yet more intensified expressions than the Ballet Society could provide, initiated the concept of the Princeton Regional Ballet Company. Since its launching in 1963, the Company has provided gifted and dedicated young dancers, selected by audition from ballet schools throughout the area, with chances to study and perform together. In many instances the discipline of, and exposure to, high artistic standards which the Regional Company, the only group of its kind in New Jersey, exacts of its members form the training for those young people opting to follow the profession of dancer as a career.

In the five years the Princeton Regional Ballet Company has been in existence its impact upon the cultural life of Central New Jersey has been increasingly apparent. Performances at McCarter, at the War Memorial in Trenton and at various schools have all been received as "critical successes." The Christmastime "Nutcracker," reminiscent of Mrs. Estey's "Pied Piper" of the early 1950's, has become a Princeton classic. Evidence of its high standards was clearly indicated by its almost immediate acceptance as a member of the Northeast Regional Ballet Association, the sponsoring organization over which Mrs. Estey now presides.

The mother of two, a married son in his second year in New York City's Union Theological Seminary and a promising dancer-singer-actress working and studying in Manhattan, Mrs. Estey is known wherever dance is taught in the East as a demanding teacher with an unusual understanding of human nature and "an unselfish devotion to the development of her pupils as pupils and as people." As a representative for dance on the Performing Arts Committee of New Jersey's State Commission to Study the Arts she has exerted a major impact on dance education, appreciation and performance in the State of New Jersey.

For creating for serious young dancers "performing outlets beyond the possibilities of their own ballet schools"; for demonstrating beyond reasonable doubt that New Jersey is not the "cultural desert" projected by one of its most vocal educators; for endowing her students with her own self-reliance and professional approach; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

FUND SETS BUDGET
For 78 Agencies. The United Fund's budget committee announced this week which agencies would get how much, and how much the Princeton community would be asked to raise.

Special: $469,297 for 28 agencies and the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross. This is 8 1/2% more than last year's allocations for the agencies involved.

But it is less than the $502,143 raised for 1968. The difference, of course, is Princeton's Visiting Nurse Association, both of which have withdrawn from the United Fund. (A year ago, the hospital got $55,000 and the V.N.A. $21,031.)

The largest allocation goes to the Family Service Agency, followed by the YMCA, the Red Cross, the YWCA and the Child Guidance Center.

The question arises with all these agencies: "How much can the Princeton community be expected to raise?"

How Much? In a "Recommendations" section at the end of the 1969 budget report, the officers and trustees of the Fund express some thoughts on this subject.

The trustees urge the appointment of a special committee to make a long-range study of agency needs, community need, and "the potential ability to raise the money."

They also urge that "every attempt must be made for increased revenue from clients served." In short - find out whether fees charged for Child Guidance or Homemakers service, and membership charges made for, say, the YMCA or YWCA, are in line with services given.

"It is expected," the trustees say, "that United Fund agencies will be diligent in collecting the maximum appropriate fee from each person who can afford to pay some portion of the costs..."

William E. Coley is executive director of the United Community Fund. Under his guidance, the goal has been set in each of the last seven years.

Here is the agency-by-agency tally, in order of the amount allocated:

Family Service. Asked for $63,964, received $57,300. (Last year: $62,900.)

The agency was told it could realize $2,000 more a year by raising its fees. Also the budget sub-committee at heard Family Service's case, suggested that it can't get some Federal money for the social problems it deals with - alcoholism, family disorders, drugs and so on. The agency has no government grants at present. Fund officials would like to see Family Service combine with some other allied agency - Child Guidance, probably - so that both could economize by having a single director. Family Service has been searching for a new executive director, and Fund officials charged the agency for offering too high a salary ($14,500-$15,000). Fund budget committee reviewing Family Service: Robert Cawley, Mrs. David Mayskens, Everett Garretson, and Robert Mooney.

Princeton YMCA. Asked for $60,250, received $50,000. (Last year: $43,050.)

Budget officials hoped to pay for an "extension secretary" who would travel the Witherspoon area, acting as counselor with young people and their families.

The Fund was asked by its budget committee to think about supporting a fund-paid professional or an "extension worker" who would be involved with community programs.

NOTICE

Because of the Memorial Day holiday, TOWN TOPICS will be printed on Tuesday next week and distributed on Wednesday. Accordingly, the display advertising deadline will be Saturday noon, and Monday noon for new stories. Classified advertising will be accepted until 5 p.m. Monday.

But - the committee that reviewed the YMCA budget drew back from a Y-paid worker because he might duplicate the work being done with youth by somebody else, and also because "other community organizations should be involved" in deciding whether an "extension worker" is needed and if so, who he should be.

The YMCA is studying its schedule to see whether higher fees for specific programs combined with lower membership fees, might not produce more revenue. This study hasn't yet been completed.

Fund budget committee reviewing the YMCA: Walter Foster Jr., Miss Beatrice Myers, George Muggs, Robert Nelson.

American Red Cross. Asked for and was granted, $49,610. (Last year: $56,862.)

The sharp drop from last year is chiefly due to the Red

A JOB TO DO: William E. Coley is executive director of the United Fund, for which a $469,297 goal was announced this week.

Cross' share in whatever excess the Fund collects. About $8,000 plus is expected by the Red Cross from '68-'69, and from the current year. The remainder is due to a tightened staff situation with resulting lower salaries. The agency emphasized that no reduction in services is implied in the decrease in funds.

Princeton YWCA. Asked for $51,295, received $45,000. (Last year: $38,000.)

The chief problem facing the YWCA is the replacement of Mrs. Howard Waxwood, who is retiring shortly as executive director, and will probably have to be replaced by someone at a higher salary.

The YWCA is one of the agencies receiving an increase from the Fund's full budget committee, over the amount recommended by the reviewing sub-committee. The overall committee wanted to allow the Y more flexibility in planning its programs, and to provide for a study of costs, programs and fee structure.

Fund budget committee reviewing the YWCA: same as for YMCA.

Child Guidance Center. Asked for $44,811, received $40,000. (Last year: $30,000.)

The Fund increased this agency by $10,000 over last year out of anxiety over its waiting list. "Clearly the Child Guidance Center is not able to meet all the service needs in this community," the report said.

However, the increase in money doesn't allow for any staff expansion, and the only way to reduce the waiting list seems to be squeezing more child care out of each professional hour, probably through group therapy.

The Center is a County agency, and Princeton Fund officials are disturbed at the way money is allocated: 14% of the County money comes to the Princeton Center (on a population basis) although 43% of the agency's services are provided here.

"We assume," the report said, "that this problem will be solved by 1969... if the County allocation were 28% instead of 14%, the Center would receive $4,000 more."

The Center's budget request was pared down because of a bookkeeping technicality; about $2,000 was asked for equipment and repairs belonging in another Fund category.

Fund budget officials commended the Center for improving its budgeting and strengthening its Princeton Advisory Committee.

Budget officials reviewing the Center for the Fund: Robert Cawley, Mrs. David Mayskens, Everett Garretson, Robert Mooney.

Princeton Nursery School. Asked for and received, $307,468. (Last year: $24,000.)

The Fund would like to see higher salaries paid to the Nursery School's professional staff - especially teachers.

The school has a capital fund, hoping to use it to buy land for a new kindergarten program.

The World in FERMENT

FOUNDER
International Latex Corporation

In most parts of the United States the American people are witness to growing student protests that often become self-defeating blackouts of universities and high schools.

Consider California's Berkeley University. Its president, Clark Kerr, is a well-known liberal who spent many years of his life helping to redress the economic power of employers with enhanced power for labor unions. His reputation as an educator and administrator ranks with the best, and he rates among America's most renowned builders of progressive, higher seats of learning. Yet Berkeley was ripped apart by demonstrators and sinners many of whom (leaders among them) were outsiders and not students of all. That insurrection caused the end of Mr. Kerr's association with Berkeley, a great loss to the entire Nation.

East, West, North, South: the pattern of the Berkeley shambles and worse, continues to be restaged. Witness Columbia University!

Nor are we alone, for most free-world nations have been plagued during the past few years with mounting student protests against educational institutions (in America it's whites and negroes alike); student protests even against industrial and military establishments. However much this may be born of just grievances (and there are many just grievances) the hard fact remains that significantly large numbers of "protesters" are interlarding their protests with shrill cries of "revolution."

Consider France. There is little doubt that registered students had legitimate cause for protest against the Sorbonne a great seat of learning, the growing needs of which the holders of the purse strings seemed to have neglected or forgotten. Premier Pompidou publicly recognized the problems and gave his personal assurances and those of his government that they would be remedied without delay. Did this satisfy the protesters? Did they return to their classes?

No. Instead they took to the streets, ripped them out to set up barricades, threatening the orderly life of Paris. Police action brought bloodshed and broken heads to both police and students numbering into the hundreds. Who won? Nobody could win. And Paris was in the grip of fear. "Protesting" mobism mushroomed, but now many waved red flags and wore red armbands with thousands of elderly Parisians marching alongside singing the communist "Internationale."

STRANGE PATTERN FOR FRANCE

This was for modern-day France a rather strange pattern, with the communist-led General Confederation of Labor calling for a sympathy strike "to help the students?" Ironically, when the students reciprocally offered to help them, they were met with cold rejection.

The strike tied up the essential services of Paris. It then spread to most industrial centers, among them Lyon, Marseille, Le Havre, Bayonne. Today oil of France is in near paralysis. Do we see here both anarchy and revolution?

This is not like the France we know so well, and it is doubtful if the origin of this creeping rebellion is wholly French. For the history of the French people leads one to the inescapable conviction that their love of freedom and respect for property, above all their own properties, is fair assurance that they will not trade those values for dictatorship and confiscation, and especially the communist variety. The French have not forgotten the 1956 horror in Hungary. The communists in France, the professional, power-hungry adventurers and even some of the idealists among them know this; they also know that the mass of the French people have not been blind to what happened to the slave people of Russia's captive nations in the past 50 years.

Even now wary Frenchmen are alert and prepared to prevent France from suffering the fate of Czechoslovakia where a relatively small percentage of professional communists with Russian masterminding took over that nation. Czech masses were not alert to subversion's treachery.

THE BEAR AND THE CLAW

Let us examine that part of the world that is overlorded by Russia, the Russia that today sees with great apprehension the mounting ferment in Freedom's Cause brewing in Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Hungary, Yugoslavia and even among the intellectuals within her own borders.

What better way to confuse and divert the attention of people in and out of Russia than to incite students, workers and the unwary intellectuals in the Free World to undermine and destroy respect for law, order and peaceful means to reforms; especially if their disruptive tactics may result in open rebellion with revolution as its covert objective?

It is well-known that Russia has devoted long years and much gold in conspiratorially building a communist apparatus in every free country, the United States and France among them, and indeed in all of free Europe. This enables her instantly to mobilize and inflame public opinion against these nations and their institutions.

What better incendiary issues in the United States, for example, than racism? Or America's stinking ghettoes? What better tinderboxes for radicals or the enraged to toss their torches into, than job discrimination?

What better issues for Russia's cauldron, in France or in any other free-world country, than neglected universities, exploited farmers or forgotten teachers, public servants and workers many of whom cannot meet rising living costs? Consider the plight of the retired!

Like vultures in search of carrion, the Kremlin's agents are forever circling where discontent erupts; and ever present when mobs openly defy the agencies of law and order; always ready to incite and inflame unhappy people. For that is largely the way Russia's slave-satellites were strung together. Today Russia desperately seeks to hide from the world's gaze its weakening grip on these disenchanted, awakening slave-states that she has so long exploited.

Let us hope that 50 terrible years of human slavery and tyranny which Russia has imposed on so many millions, will give warning everywhere that the price of freedom is vigilance plus dedication to human progress, undiminished by Russia's brain-washing propaganda.

CHANNELIZATION NEARS
For Nassau Street. Those white outlines of arrows and dotted lines peppering Nassau Street will soon be painted solid yellow as Nassau Street between Mercer Street and Washington Road becomes "channelized" to speed up the flow of traffic.

Borough Engineer Thomas Sawyer reported Tuesday that the State Highway Department, which is doing the job, told him it plans to paint in the arrows "within a week."

Channelization, or lanes of traffic, is designed to eliminate bottlenecks at busy intersections caused by motorists who want to make left turns into oncoming traffic. There are so many left turns on Nassau Street, it ties up traffic," said Chief Peter McCrohan, who has been instrumental in getting the lane to act.

Named the "Sonerville Plan" after the city where the same arrangement has worked out so successfully, it provides for a box or lane for a left turn, one for straight ahead traffic and one for a right turn.

Proper Lane or No Turn "It means everyone will have to obey the signs," said Chief McCrohan. "You are going to have to get in the right lane if you don't make that turn."

Period! People are going to have to be educated.

"There will be definite improvement at the intersection of Nassau and Washington and at Nassau and University Place," he continued. "That's definite. There may also be some improvement at Nassau and Witherspoon Street."

How will it work? "There will be a couple of kinks in it,"

THE ELEPHANT ON NASSAU STREET, located in the Rockefeller for President headquarters, will be there for the duration, according to (from left) Mrs. S. D. MacAfee, in charge of volunteers, and Mrs. Theodore H. Kelly, headquarters manager. Present strategy is to encourage uncommitted delegates to the Republican convention to vote for Rockefeller, and the office will supply pens, paper, stamps, names and addresses of delegates to all willing letter-writers. After the convention, the office, 8 Nassau, becomes Republican headquarters. (Staff Photo)

Mr. Wilson said he was afraid some Township resident might complain that the Borough was fostering public housing onto the Township. He was also concerned about lack of Township representation on the present Authority.

The "Workable program" required before Federal funds can be obtained, will move ahead, Mr. Wilson promised. He said Federal housing officials had warned him that the Township should move as soon as possible because a public housing program takes a long time to move through the machinery.

Another loss to the Borough is the loss of some 25 parking meters which the state says it will have to remove at some of the intersections.

There's no question about it, taking 25 meters out of the central business district is murder," commented Chief McCrohan. He added that undoubtedly some cars would continue to park in these new restricted areas.

At some of the above intersections, the state highway department has already installed delayed traffic lights to ease the problems of left turns. "They gave us part but not all of what we wanted," reported Chief McCrohan. "They told us to stagger all the lights we had to have channelization."

All that yellow paint — "it won't look too pretty as far as Nassau Street is concerned, but I've gone through a lot of other towns nearby and nearly all have channelization. Then with an eye on the calendar he added, "I hope they finish it soon — before reunion weekend."

HOUSING CHANGE?

One Authority Suggested. The Township will ask the Borough to replace the present Princeton Housing Authority of the Borough with a new joint Authority which would represent both Borough and Township.

"We plan to explore this with Borough Mayor and Council," said Township Mayor Carl Schafer at Committee meeting Monday night.

The suggestion was made by Committee member William L. Wilson who said "I promise this will not delay anything — housing will continue. If the Borough or the Housing Authority refuse, we can always go back to our original plan."

The Township's original plan was to pass resolution authorizing the Borough's Authority to act as the Township's agent in construction of public housing within the Township.

Mr. Wilson said he was afraid some Township resident might complain that the Borough was fostering public housing onto the Township. He was also concerned about lack of Township representation on the present Authority.

The "Workable program" required before Federal funds can be obtained, will move ahead, Mr. Wilson promised. He said Federal housing officials had warned him that the Township should move as soon as possible because a public housing program takes a long time to move through the machinery.

Mrs. T. Darrah Thomas, on Monday night's audience, told Committee that state law would not permit creation of a new "regional" housing authority between Borough and Township without a special enabling act from the legislature.

(Mrs. Steve Slaby, executive director of the Borough's Authority, confirmed Mrs. Thomas' statement. Mrs. Slaby says her Authority can enlarge its area of operations to include the Township, but must legally remain the Borough's Authority.) Committee tabled its original resolution pending discussion with Borough and Housing Authority officials.

"Yes" to inspections. Committee passed its amendment to the housing code providing for inspections between tenants. Ridgely Cook, president of Edmund Cook & Co., real estate agents, protested the new amendment, he said it would cause a bottleneck every year on September 1 when old tenants move out and new

There's a time for playing and a time for planning...

And the time for planning is now. If your children are still in the teeter-totter stage, or even if they're off raising a few playgrounders of their own, there'll never be a better time than now for you to plan for their future.
You'll want your estate to be worth as much as possible to them, and the experienced Trust Officers at the First National Bank can show you how to guarantee that. They'd welcome the opportunity to discuss with you and your attorney how the knowledge and skills of our trust team can add to the value and security of your estate. And there's no obligation on your part. Why not get started on that important planning now, by calling the First National Bank. For 75 years, families have found that banking is a friendly thing at Princeton's First National.

DANCERS ARE YOUNG
In Ballet Festival, Young dancers who belong to regional ballet companies all over the northeastern part of the United States and southeastern Canada will gather this weekend to display artistry and skill in the ninth annual Northeast Regional Ballet Festival.

The Festival, jointly sponsored by McCarter Theatre and the Princeton Ballet Society, will consist of lecture-demonstrations, a workshop performance and a concluding Gala Performance this Saturday night. The Gala will be open to the public, and tickets are on sale at the McCarter box-office. The dance presentation will be held in McCarter Theatre.

Dancers from the area who will appear are Dorothy Pettit, Sarah Lithgow, Maxine Lampert, Maureen Boyle, Ann Goldstein, Phyllis Papa, Karen Thurm, Sally Yard, Sherry Kaplan, Robin Herbert, Dawn

Herbert, Linda Lindley, Debbie Smith and Marilu Atteneborough.

Auditions for young dancers who would like to be in the Princeton Regional Ballet, will be held on Sunday, June 9, at the Princeton Ballet Society Studio, 262 Alexander Street. Tryouts for the Junior Company will be from 2 to 3:30 and for the Senior Company from 3:30 to 5. Anyone age 12 or older from central New Jersey is eligible. Additional information may be obtained from the Princeton Ballet Society, 921-7758.

ON, FOR INTIME
New Plays Announced. The University's Theatre Intime has closed one of its most successful seasons by announcing the last of plays that will be given next fall and Spring. Ionesco's "The Killer" will open the season in the Fall. It will be directed by Frederic O'Brady, who directed Moliere's "The Misanthrope" earlier this year.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night," Eugene O'Neill's autobiographical drama, will be the next production. R. Edward Townley, who directed "Luv" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" for Intime, will be in charge.

The second semester will open with Ben Johnson's "The Alchemist," a fast and bawdy satire on human gullibility. Intime promises a production in "the Elizabethan manner."

Next will come a little-known play by Orson Welles, "Moby Dick—Behreared." In this play, a group of actors gather to rehearse "King Lear," but begin to read "Moby Dick" instead and gradually begin to play the parts of the people in the book.

"The Knack," the Ann Jellicoe comedy that was made in to the award-winning movie, will bring the 1968-69 season to a close.

Interspersed with these "big five," Intime will present various plays chosen from the works of Joyce, Pinter, Sandburg, Aristophanes, Leroi Jones and contemporary off-off-Broadway playwrights.

PLANET OF THE APES: That's Charlton Heston on the left there with two apes and a sub-human, name of Lioda Harrison, in a scene from the science fiction film at the Playhouse and the Prince Theatres this week. It could happen to you.

Subscription: In formation may be obtained by calling the Murray Theatre box office, 452-3637 between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m., or writing Theatre In-Home, Murray Theatre, Princeton, N. J.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE
Planet of the Apes (now playing) is an ambitious excursion into the field of science fiction. The reverse evolution is a bit of a shocker at first.

The story, based upon a novel by Pierre Boulle, concerns an unidentified planet inhabited by a race of apes who lord it over the "human" population (animal-like nutes) and hunt them down as if they were beasts of prey.

Into this strange land come four American astronauts whose spacecraft has crashed. Only one of them, Charlton Heston, survives for very long, and the picture records the indignities to which he is cruelly subjected and his struggles to survive.

A good deal of humor is derived from having the apes act like intelligent humans. The settings and music are eerie and imaginative. The special make-up for the actors playing the apes is remarkable. Major simian roles are taken by Maurice Evans, Kim Hunter and Roddy McDowall.

GARDEN

The Party (starts Thursday) Peter Sellers is an Indian actor imported by a Hollywood studio for a part in a film about the Bengal Lancers. He is a bungler who can't quite seem to do anything right.

Through an error, he shows up at a party given by the producer who has thrown him off the set. Here, he encounters a variety of characters in movies, television, government, and gets into an amazing amount of trouble. It's a wild fun-fest all around.

FETE FLOWERS: Bright and happy colors in bright and happy paper flowers — that's your honor when you shop on June 1 at the Lane of Shops. Princeton Hospital Fete. Mrs. Richard deJ. Osborne (left) and Mrs. Franklin A. Steete are the flower girls.

IT'S NEW To Us

ALL A-BLOOM
 For Hospital Fete, it's only ten days away, the Princeton Hospital Fete, but paper flowers have been wildly blooming for weeks, the real little seedlings in the garden tent have been furiously growing to be ready in time, cocktail aprons have been taking a final sip and the Lane of Shops is ready for your browsing and your purse.
 Those paper flowers in the Lane of Shops come in big red roses, poppies, daisies and — are they daisies? Brighten your patio with any or all.

Lots of decoupage this year in the Lane of Shops. One imaginative artist has arranged a fleet of old-fashioned automobiles against the bright background of a tall waste-basket.

Another has made a speedily gift for sailors from a black tray decorated with a decoupage of chronometers and navigation instruments. A card box has charming dancers and an edging of gold braid.

For hostesses, there will be the varied collection of aprons made by The Friendship Club. This year, pockets are giant-size in Friendship Club aprons — you could even put the hostess inside. But there are amusing little cocktail aprons, too, just for fun.

In the Dollhouse, mothers can buy sewing baskets for little girls, all filled with bright scraps to use for doll clothes. Waste-baskets have been adorned with Winnie-the-Pooh or Snoopy.

Girls will squeal over the stuffed, dressed mice and the fully-dressed dolls, and little boys will reach for the wooden sailboats.

Aprons for children have doctors' gear or carpenters' tools in the big pockets.

Lane of Shops committee are particularly happy with their collection of remnants for the Fabric Booth. These remnants come from the decorating shops of Princeton, and they are marvelous for chair-covers, pillows or even clothes for little girls. Scotchgarled upholstery fabrics are in wildly wonderful colors, and traditional tweedy things as well.

While you're in that Paper Booth picking a bouquet of paper flowers, you'll see a collection of sturdy cardboard furniture—the collapsible kind — for children, cigarette lighters covered with paper-mache and exquisite cut-out lampshades, all hand done.

We like the great big hats from the Boutique, especially the green one with a bunch of pea-pods, parsley springs and garlic buds nestled fetchingly against the floppy brim.
 Another wide-brimmer

Art — On View

A judged art show will be part of the Hospital Fete this year.
 A dozen winners will have a 12-man show this Saturday around Palmer Square, and anyone who wants to, can browse and buy.

At the Fete itself, on Saturday, June 1, the annual art gallery will be augmented by a gallery of crafts. Chairmen promise that many of the paintings and "objets" will be in moderate price ranges, and small enough to carry home.

Leaves behind the subtle colors of the garden and displays forthright red ribbons against white-white.

And if you need a mirror — or just want one — choose from the collection decorated with fantasy figures. Or even just daisies. We like the pink pig with a mirror where the smoked ham usually is. Wouldn't it be fun to hang this one in your kitchen?

Into the Garden. Picking up the pruning shears so they won't rust, we move on to the Hospital Fete's garden tent. This is "no-nonsense" year for the tent: emphasis will be on good, stern gardening rather than on boutique items.

As an earnest of their earnestness, the garden tent chairmen have signed up two experts from the Mercer County Agriculture Extension service. They will hold court under a separate umbrella, and dispense advice if you have problems with fuschias, and such.

In "The Green Thumb" tent, you'll find "practical accessor-

MUSIC In Princeton

WE SING, IN SPRING
At Princeton High. The annual spring concert of the Vocal music department at Princeton High School will be given this Friday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.
William R. Trego, chairman of the department, will direct three choral groups and the Princeton High School Choir in the program. Mrs. Nancy B. Parrella will accompany the singers.

The Choir will sing the Cantata No. 78, "Jesu, der du meine Seele" of Johann Sebastian Bach, and two of Johannes Brahms' "Liebeslieder" waltzes, "Am Donaustrande" and "Nein, es ist nicht aus zu kommen."
The high school's Male Chorus will sing Handel's "Where'er You Walk"; "Ave Maria, I Love a Lass" by Glee; the spiritual, "Sometimes I feel Like a Motherless Child" in the arrangement by Fenno Heath and Randall Thompson's "We Have Counted the Cost of This Contest."

The Girls' Chorus will sing "My Lady, Thou Art So Fair," by Thomas Weelkes; "Awake the Trumpet's Lofly Sound" by Handel; Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song" and Hansen's "How Excellent Thy Name."

Members of the Freshman Girls' Chorus will sing Thomas Morley's "Now Is the Month of Maying"; Johann Sebastian Bach's "Den Tod Niemand Sungen Kann't"; three Hungarian folk songs by Bela Bartok and three "Amusements" by Francis J. Pyle.
Last week, the Princeton High School Choir visited the University of Hartford, presenting a morning concert in Millard Auditorium at the Hart College of Music. The young singers in the Choir joined the college chorus in a rehearsal session, and were guests of honor at a reception.

"LA TRAVIATA"

Tryouts Scheduled. All singers in the Princeton area are invited to audition for a summer production of Verdi's "La Traviata" to be given July 12 and 13 at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing Park, by the Princeton Opera Association.

Auditions will be held at the Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandewater, this Saturday from 3 to 5. Appointments should be made through Mrs. Frank Schley, 1000 Princeton-Kingston Road, 921-2148.

Igor Chibegov, artistic director of the Princeton Opera Association, and conductor of the Baltimore Civic Opera, will direct "La Traviata" for the July performance.

Last year, the Association gave "La Boheme" at Washington Crossing and in Trenton, and also in Bayside, Long Island. Menotti's "The Telephone" was presented in Princeton.

This fall, the Princeton Opera Association will appear at the New Jersey State Cultural Center in Trenton with productions of Mozart's "The Impresario," "The Telephone," and a work to be announced.

RECITALS SCHEDULED

By Boychoir School. The Columbus Boychoir School will present piano students of Donald Bryant, Robert Haley and Howard Jewell in a recital at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The pianists will include David and Stephen Mantell, Jay Lapidus, Mindy and Holly Jones, and Dudley and Karen Fitzpatrick, Princeton; Heidi and Holly Eddinger, Princeton Junction; Jay Weiss, Hopewell; John and Janet Riedinger, Duellen; Mark Donaldson and David Christofferson, Trenton; and Stephen Burger, Kendall Park.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Nine hours of your youngster's playtime invested in music this summer could pay dividends in pleasure
for a lifetime.

In just six weekly 90-minute sessions at the New School's Summer Music Playshop, your youngster can step into the world of music. The Playshop is a place to play, but with a purpose. Music appreciation, curhythmics, introduction to instruments and music reading are structured to immerse your boy or girl in an enriching musical experience, laying the groundwork for all the pleasures that music offers in the years ahead — as a listener or as a performer. And the real benefit to you of the Playshop is that for just $20, you can discover whether your child is ready now for formal musical instruction. The Playshop is open to boys and girls as young as seven, as old as eleven, and they'll be grouped by age. And because the Playshop is play, there's no home practice involved.

Register now for the Summer Music Playshop.

Enrollment is limited, so call 921-2900 now or visit The New School for Music Study at 353 Nassau Street. Registration deadline is Friday, June 14, so act now.

Caponi-Szabo. Miss Joan V. Caponi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Caponi of 431 Ewing Street, to Stephen F. Szabo, son of the R. Rev. Stephen Szabo of Cleveland, O., and the late Mrs. Szabo. A July wedding is planned.

Miss Caponi, an alumna of Princeton High School, will graduate in June from the University of Pittsburgh, where she is an English major in the School of Education. Mr. Szabo, an ensign in the United States Navy, is a graduate of Lutheran East High School, Cleveland, and the International Service School of American University, Washington, Class of 1965. He has studied in Dijon, France, and expects to receive a master's degree in June from American University.

Petty-Riepe. Miss Gail N. Petty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville A. Petty 2nd of Bedford Brook Road, to James S. Riepe, of Chestnut Hill, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Riepe of Milford, Conn. The wedding will take place on September 14.

Miss Petty, a Miss Fine's School alumna, will graduate this month from the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Riepe is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he was captain of the 1964 football team. He holds a master's degree from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and is associated with Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery of Philadelphia.

Maxwell-Griggs. Miss Donna M. Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders Maxwell of 219 Edgerstone Road, to Robert C. Griggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Griggs of Overland Park, Kas. The wedding will take place on June 15.

WEDDINGS
Doran-Lear. Miss Jane C. Lear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lear of Titusville, to Robert Doron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doron of Harborton, May 18: Titusville Methodist Church.
The bride and groom are graduates of Central High School of Hopewell Township. Mrs. Doron is employed at the Harborton Hills Indants Home and her husband is with the Robert B. Berwick Company. The couple will live in the Washington Crossing Apartments.

Murphy - Holcombe. Miss Charlotte Ann Holcombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Holcombe of Pennington, to Joseph R. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Murphy of Morrisville, Pa. May 18: Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church, Morrisville. The couple will live in Levittown.

It's New To Us

"For the plain dirt gardener" — clippers, trowels, maybe even dirt for all we know.

"Bloomin' Buckets" are another pride of this year's tent. If you want to dry a flower, you buy a bucket. Holds five pounds of silica gel (that's the stuff that absorbs the plant's moisture), instructions, floral tape and wire — and a package of seeds.

If your trees are now bigger than your garden, you can buy plants that grow best in the shade. If you are bursting with sunshine, you can buy the annual seedlings and perennials that do best in sun.

And hanging baskets! And plants on their own trellis! Better take the station wagon, or you'll never get it all home.

... AND ON THE BORDER
Embroidered daisies. Deep border prints are the summer sophisticates at Fabric Find, the shop at 185 Nassau. These are embroidered designs against a linen-like dacron and cotton fabric, any they come in so many moods.

Like the eight-inch white embroidered daisy, black-centered, against brilliant rose pink or brilliant turquoise. Or the squares and arcs of black, grey and white against grey.

Between these extremes, you'll find a smooth blend of olive, soft rust and beige worked in cut-out medallions and tear-drops against a smooth, heavy cream background.

These borders are deep, by the way, starting about six inches from the edge and banding the skirt to a depth of almost a foot, in some instances.

One, however, has a full 18-inch border right up from hemline. It's an Irish-coffee blend of cream and white against a dark brown chocolate hem.

Charming, peasant-style embroidery has been used for our last example. It's royal blue and bright red against white.

Traveling? Fabric Find knows how to say "bon voyage" in pure Banian. The grammar is easy and the vocabulary brilliant. Here's orange, kelly, hot pink and white, all in a single dazzling engram: an understatement in soft pastels; a forthright comment in sharpest black and white.

Polyester double knit can be crushed in your hand (or in your suitcase) but it doesn't matter; it springs back before

Other travelers may prefer Fabric Find's group of "silk linens" (well, that's what they look like). Won't crush, resist dirt, love to be washed, come in a dozen colors, of which our favorite is a happy shade of apricot.

The Swiss, who seem to be making fabrics as fast as they do chocolate or watches, have a couple of cotton contributions to Fabric Find's summer.

One is a puckered cotton that looks like silk, done in narrow solid and floral stripes. The blends are blues-and-greens, navy-with-pink, violet-with-beige.

Swiss pique looks like white brocade, but you may have it in a "broken" ootman (a narrow-wide rib) or a woven daisy pattern.

And if you can wait even a minute — Fabric Find expects more of these wonderful Japanese batiks from Holland, the kind you just fold in half. No pattern needed!

SALARY VS. PUBLIC INTEREST: If members of community governing bodies were paid, Mrs. Cheryl Spiegel fears that people might start running for the monetary reward rather than through any public interest. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: Should members of the governing bodies of small communities such as Princeton be paid, or work for nothing?

Where asked: Around town.

Mrs. Cheryl Spiegel, Cranbury, co-owner of The Game Room, 124 Nassau Street: No, I don't think they should be paid. If they are, I think it is possible to run into the situation where people will run for the monetary reward rather than through public interest. I really believe this tends to happen anytime a salary is involved.

Mrs. Kenneth Cramwell, 339 Walnut Lane, housewife: I feel these are competent, well educated people and therefore well salaried. All probably have excellent positions. So I feel they are performing a great contribution to the community by giving their services rather than being paid for them. No, I don't think they should be paid.

R. G. McGraw, Trenton, associated with Bell Telephone Co.: In my opinion, they should be compensated for the untold amount of hours they put at it. I imagine it invades whatever free time they have with their families. Getting calls that their garage wasn't collected or dogs are running around loose. Yes, I think they should be compensated. I think it might also serve as an avenue for getting more qualified people.

Mrs. Elaine Reid, 120 Grover Avenue, housewife: I think it should be volunteer. For the amount of work they do, $500 a year or a $1,000 doesn't mean a thing. Usually, the ones that have that amount of time to give, don't require reimbursement. I don't if a taken salary would be that much more conducive to better government.

Steve Cusumano, Graduate College chemistry: Depends on the job and how much time it involves. I don't think, for example, Borough Council members should be paid. I think that should be a community service. If it is a full time job, or even half-time, then that's something different.

Mrs. Selika Conover, Route 206, secretary: I think it should be volunteer. I don't think they can be paid an adequate salary to cover the work that has to be done. I feel it should be people who are willing to serve because of their concern for the community. It should be out of that spirit, rather than any thought of payment. The spirit's got to be there. There isn't ever going to be that much money.

William Adamsou, Constitution Drive, investments for the Johnson Associates: The whole problem with this in Princeton is that all have other interests. Their jobs are in New York or elsewhere. It means either give up your job or do this as a part-time effort for which one should receive some nominal payment — which makes or may not commensurate with the time put on it. I think dedication to civic interest is extremely necessary for any community. We are dependent on this kind of people who are willing to set aside the time required for this effort.

Miss Laurie Artress, 108 Stockton, Seminary student: If they are elected, then I say they definitely should not be paid. They're putting themselves forward. If they volunteered, I don't think they should expect any salary.

Miss Linda Hartman, 108 Stockton, Seminary student: I think they ought to receive something. Why? Just intuitive.

Mrs. Daniel Ross, State Road, employee, Art Museum, Princeton University: Yes, I think they should be paid a token amount. It makes the job more official.

David Perlman, E. Walling Avenue, Pennington, Princeton University faculty: I think they should be paid something, some nominal fee. I don't know how many hours they put into it but it must be considerable. And it is a rather lengthy commitment. What is it, two years, three years? That's quite a service they're doing. If you just depend on volunteers, you may not always get the best; this might make it worthwhile for someone who otherwise might not consider it.

Robert E. Lynch, Washington, D.C., lawyer: I think they should be paid for the reason that then they would have the responsibility to answer for their actions. They'd be more inclined to give their best judgment when they are being paid for it. And particularly if they are property owners they will want to watch out for the welfare of the entire community. In other words, money is important.

Albert Rauch, Princeton Junction, business agent for Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 388: I think they should be paid. They are putting their time in and looking out for the best interests of the community. There should be some remuneration. I know most of them have jobs but still they are putting in all those extra hours. I can't see much difference between a small community and a large one, either. You can put in a lot of time even in a small one like Princeton. They're talking about $500. I think $500 is a fair amount. It's $500 more than they are getting.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion:

Cut down on the high cost of getting around.

And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $1,699*.

That's around $1200 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (Leave it in the bank. Mom's coming!)

A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.

Not one iota of antifreeze.

And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car literally devils that it only gets 14.

So the more you drive, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.

Try putting that in the bank.

He suggested periodic inspection — every six months or every year — of all units, adding that some tenants who had lived in a rental unit for ten years, might be trapped by uncorrected and unreported violations of the code.

Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, explained that the new amendment didn't change the powers of the Board of Health to inspect at any time.

Hotel rooms and dormitory quarters for students are exempt from the new between-tenants provision.

Down With Water. Four drainage projects totaling $4,200 were approved, but after a long and highly technical discussion of hydraulic engineering between Frank Quinlan, the Township engineer, and Robert Montgomery, 121 Auburn Drive, who is also a engineer.

The drainage projects are chiefly concerned with clearing and widening the channel of Harry's Brook to ease flooding, and Mr. Montgomery lives close enough to the Brook to be a connoisseur.

Committee appropriated $500 to reconstruct and repave the 74 feet of John Street in the Township matching the Borough's current reconstruction job on its section of John street.

Stuart Road will be widened from 20 to 24 feet at Township expense to make the road conform to the new road master plan.

A sewer extension will be laid along Snowden Lane for 150 feet west of Herrington Road. The Board of Health recommends the extension.

It was what they approved a $9,150 replacement of part of the Red Hill Road sewer. The Township will pay for all the new sewer line.

Mr. Quinlan reported that camera studies had shown the sewer to be 80% faulty.

Consolidation? Responding to a protest from the League of Women Voters about construction of a new Township Hall when consolidation might eventually occur, Mr. Wilson stated that Committee had not decided how big or how costly the new building would be.

He said a consolidated Princeton would still need the office space. Seven architects have been interviewed so far, he reported.

"I wasn't convinced we needed the new building," observed Committeeman Harry J. Volwiler, "then our administrator Mr. Ninj took me on a little tour . . ."

In response to a question from the audience about Shopping Center potholes, Committeeman John Wallace said the Center's owners have been given one month (from May 17) to take action against the potholes, or he cited under the Township's new ordinance on paving specifications for public parking lots.

Tuesday announcing that the present free swim period of 6 to 8 p.m. there will be no reduction in any form.

Like the morning free swim, the evening swim will be held every day, Tuesday through Sunday. The pools will remain closed on Mondays.

In addition, the Recreation Board made a move to help any Princeton resident between 10 and 18 who may find it a hardship to pay the individual season's ticket fee of $15 all at once. Upon proper application, a youngster can pay the $15 over an extended period of time during summer in individual arrangements worked out with Recreation Director R. Donald Barr.

It is the Board's feeling that by making these changes and following previous policies regarding needy residents, all Princetonians desiring to swim can do so without undue financial hardship. So wrote the Recreation Board in its prepared statement.

"We feel this is the fairest and best method to proceed by," said Mr. Barr. "We think this will work out very well."

Must Get Ticket. Although any resident of the Borough or Township can swim free every day for four hours if he so chooses, he must first obtain a free swim ticket at the Recreation Office. See Box this page.

In arriving at the decision, Mr. Barr remarked that the Board had worked long and hard. "We explored at least all the different proposals and we all got to exhaustion . . .," he said. "They were very enlightening meetings."

All eight members of the Recreation Board attended the two closed executive sessions held last Wednesday and on Monday. They are Wilbert Brooks, William H. Boulton,

Tickets Are Essential

Any resident of the Borough or Township who plans to take advantage of the two daily free swim periods announced by the Recreation Board must first obtain a free swim permit by filling out an application blank at the Recreation Office.

Free swim permits may be obtained at the Recreation Board in Township Hall Monday through Friday, to 5, after presenting proof of Princeton residency. Residents will be issued tickets similar to season permits but of a different color.

"This is the only way we have of controlling who swims in," said R. Donald Barr, Recreation Director. "Otherwise, we'll have kids from Plainsboro, Rocky Hill and all over trying to swim."

Robert W. Sinkler, John J. Conroy, Dean W. Chace, Mrs. J. H. Matthey, Mrs. Frances Hutter and William Amiger, just appointed to the board to replace Dr. Edward Godfrey of the Borough who resigned — plus Mr. Barr and G. Ed ward Beacham, assistant Recreation Director.

Extra Day, $6,000 More. The proposal to keep the pools open seven days a week in view of the shortness of the season was rejected because it would cost an estimated $6,000 to pay for the extra man hours involved. "We just didn't have in our budget," commented Mr. Barr.

Ragweed Is Target of 'One More Crusade'

Doctor, 92, Seeks to Help Hay Fever Sufferers

"I figure I have one more crusade left in me," says Dr. Charles Hendee Smith, who is 92 years old. "So I'm doing something about ragweed."

Township property owners will see what that "some thing" is when they receive their tax bills in June. Enclosed will be a two-page leaflet, "Princeton's War on Harmful Plants," written for the Township Board of Health by Dr. Smith.

Sketches show exactly how to identify ragweed and poison ivy, and the text describes graphically how to pull ragweed up or cut it down.

Ragweed is Plant Number One," states Dr. Smith. A pediatrician for half a century and a gardener all his life, Dr. Smith recalls a little boy in New Brunswick, desperately afflicted with asthma, who recovered after Dr. Smith got a crew of men to pull up all ragweed from a vacant lot across the street from the boy's home.

Home-grown Crop. "Ragweed is probably that plant you're raising 200 feet from your house and you wonder why you have hay fever," says the ragweed expert. Ragweed pollen, Dr. Smith explains, is the chief cause of hay fever, and it's home-grown pollen that causes the trouble.

"You get some pollen blown in, but it doesn't amount to much. Ragweed is a local, home-grown problem."

The plant is easy to identify, growing from one to five feet on its tough and wiry stem. Leaves are greyish green and fern-like, and the male flower grows in spikes two to four inches long.

"Ragweed is easy to pull up now when it's young," Mayor through July," the gardener says. "It's tougher when it's older."

As an annual, ragweed produces seeds that fall on the ground next to the plant and become next year's crop. The seeds love sunny, bare, rocky dry soil, and so ragweed flourishes along newly graded roadsides.

How are seeds carried from the parent plant to these new gardens? Dr. Smith suspects that small animals like rabbits, skunks and foxes, carry the seeds on

Pull It Up! So the direction signals are clear: patrol Township roadsides and pull all the ragweed up, patrol vacant lots in Borough and Township and pull all the ragweed up.

"I was scandalized last summer to see the amount of ragweed growing on the roadside!" Dr. Smith exclaims. "I called the state health people — well, that wasn't very satisfactory. I just boiled over and decided to do something myself. And I could free the whole Township of ragweed in two years if the road crews had the time to work with me!"

How about spraying? Dr. Smith is scornful.

"The state health people are all for spraying — well, that's all right for large areas in the country but it's wicked to spray in residential areas — you kill all kinds of wild flowers and everything else besides. Spray only kills the ragweed leaves, anyway, and leaves those ugly stalks still standing."

One stake that fell on fertile ground was a letter Dr. Smith wrote to the Township Committee, through Committeeman William L. Wilson. It is that letter that resulted in the Township Board of Health's enclosure to taxpayers.

Health officials hope the leaflet can be distributed throughout the Township, perhaps door to door, thereby reaching households who don't receive tax notices through municipal channels.

Dr. Smith lives on Ridgeview Road in a house in the woods he built in 1886. He is a member of the class of '97 at Cornell ("I rowed on the first Cornell crew that ever lost a race") and was graduated first in his class from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia in 1901.

For 26 years, he taught pediatrics and served as director of children's service at Bellevue Hospital in New York. Having reached Bellevue's retirement age of 65 during World War II, he moved to New Brunswick and carried a heavy wartime pediatrics practice, covering for doctors who were in the service.

Dr. Smith is the father of another Princeton physician, Dr. DeWitt Smith of Drakes Corner Road, and the grandfather of a nurse, Miss Audrey Smith.

Reduced fees were not possible "because we had to meet our operating expenses and we have an obligation to the taxpayers and the community," said Mr. Barr. Reduced fees also mean the concomitant problem of refunds. "At this late date the pools open this late date (Memorial Day) it was impossible to set up any kind of fee structure that would be consistent," Mr. Barr stated.

"As far as excluding anyone, you can't be fairer than to offer extended free swimming to any Princeton resident who wants it," he said.

CAR WASH APPROVED

On Alexander. A combination gas station-car wash will be built, probably this fall, on the Alexander Street property now occupied by the Boice Lumber and Fuel Company.

Frederick P. Lawrence, 177 Library Place, received the required special permit from the Township Zoning Board after a brief hearing last Thursday. He has an option to buy the Boice property.

Mr. Lawrence must now have his plan approved by the Township's site plan review board. He expects to appear before the Township Planning Board for final approval on June 16.

The Zoning Board set several conditions for the car wash limiting its hours to 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Mr. Lawrence must provide police and traffic controls whenever Township police or the Traffic Safety Committee decide they are needed.

Landscaping must meet the approval of the Shade Tree Commission and water disposal of the approval of the Township engineer. All parking — employee and customer — must be on the property and not on Alexander Street. Also, Mr. Lawrence must abandon the ANTIQUES, BARGAINS?

Try Fete Auction. If that bare spot on your wall cries out for a Whistler etching, if you are looking for a mahogany any dining room table with leaves and chairs for eight for your next dinner party, or are planning a desert worthy of being served on a set of 12 dessert plates from the Grover Cleveland estate, or if you are looking for any one of a hundred items at a possible bargain price, the Hospital Fete auction can fill your needs.

The familiar voice of Lester Slafoff will hold sway from 9 a.m. until 5 June 1 auctioning off silver, crystal, lithographs, watercolors, sideboards, book cases, stamp books, fur coats, oriental rugs, tables, chairs, brocade, lamps, outdoor furniture in addition to the featured items.

MAKE 'EM JUST LIKE THIS! That's the advice young Christopher Henkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henkel, gives after testing a Sno Cone. His opinion was sought by Mrs. John Dwyer (left) and Mrs. Robert Plumb, Jr., as they plan for the sale of Sno Cones by the score at the Hospital Fete on June 1.

sealed bids may be made on favorite articles.

Auction go-alongmen are Mrs. Henry S. Broad and Mrs.
Fenn Stafford; solicitation co-chairman are Mrs. Porter N.
Lee and Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian.
Mrs. John J. Loughlin and Mrs. Thomas O. Slonkay will supervise the exhibition. Mrs.
J. L. Dougherty is in charge of sealed bids.

Waboo Chicken. Members of the Lions Club, who are celebrating their 40th anniversary this year, will be barbecuing chicken they have donated to the Fete. It will be known as "Waboo" chicken on June 1 and served in the '49 Cafe along with baked beans, salad, a roll and coffee, for $1.49. For dessert, crepes will be available in a nearby tent.

Children will have the pick of about 50 activities at the Fete, including a county jail where they can be fingerprinted by deputies and buy identification cards, "wanted" posters or sheriff's badges.

New and used toys will be sold at the Frontier store.
prizes will be given to winners at the balloon burst, the china smash, and the fish pond. Along the midway will be the wheel of fortune, the "girl dunk."
The midway is under the supervision of the Interac Club of the Rotary.

On sale will be unusual posters, sunglasses, bumper stickers, not already shown in Princeton, original vinyl shirts,
"Sonny and Cher" vests, paper mache jewelry and surfers' crosses for men to wear with their Nehru jackets.

SOME CHANGES MADE

In Zoning Proposals. Modifications have been made in the Borough's proposed new zoning ordinance as a result of objections raised at the Planning Board's public hearing on May 7.

Another public hearing will be held on the zoning proposals at the board's next public meeting, Tuesday, June 4 at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

• The height of apartment-office buildings in the new "RD-2" zone also has been increased so that three-story garages will be allowed.

• Churches and schools will be allowed in residential zones "conditionally," and not as a permitted right.

• Owners of commercial buildings on lots smaller than 5,000 square feet will be allowed to rebuild to the present bulk of their buildings without having to meet parking requirements. If the lot is over 5,000 square feet, parking requirements must be met.

• The board eliminated the building restriction against property owners who have adjoining non-conforming lots.

BEATING CHARGED

By Seminary Professor, Dr.
J. Christian Becker, 44, professor of Biblical theology at Princeton Seminary, charged Saturday that he was beaten by two civilians at Fort Dix while protesting war games for children.

Military policemen, he said, instead by and watched. The Army has denied the accusation.

According to Dr. Becker, the attack occurred about 11 a.m.
Saturday near a children's grenade-launching area, part of the Armed Forces Day celebration. With him were six Princeton Theological Seminary students. He said they had just arrived at the base and were marching in a circle carrying placards.

"This huge guy ran at me and got me in a bear hug as if I was squeezing me like an orange," Dr. Becker said. "I called me a dirty son-of-abitch and a Communist. Then another man took me from the hind and starting hitting me

Tax Money for War Games Dr. Becker was examined by his physician in Princeton and given a painkiller. He said he not interested in my bruises, but I am interested that anything like these war games can go on with support from tax money."

A semimarian, Robert Dayton, 23, said he was struck by the law and knocked down. According to Dr. Becker, the at-
the military police.

A formal protest was lodged Monday by the Seminary student council, signed by Dr.
C. Myler, president of the student body, Floyd W. Church, and George E. Taylor, co-chairmen of the church and society commission of the student council.

Mr. Church was among the demonstrators. He said the children's war games including launching rockets at a Vietnamese village, throwing mock grenades at targets that represented human figures and a boy's range.

The protest was sent to Maj.
Gen. W. Collins, commanding officer at Fort Dix; P.
vost Marshall, Col. Merr.
Col. James H. Carroll, Gen.
Hudson, Senator Clifford Case, Senator Harrison W.
Williams and Representative Frank Thompson.

Four requests were made in the student council statement:
(1) a demand that the behavior of the military police be investigated to determine why they failed to protect the demonstrators from injury; (2) an apology to Dr. Becker and Mr. Dayton; (3) a statement denying or confirming that military police in plainclothes were mingling in the crowd.

• Questions and Answers about:

CONSUMER BUREAU

• Who runs Consumer Bureau? Consumer Bureau of Princeton, Incorporated, is administered as a community service by seven Princeton area consumers (names on request) who serve without pay as Directors of the Bureau.

• How does Consumer Bureau help consumers? By maintaining a Register of business people who have been (1) recommended to the Bureau by Princeton area consumers and (2) found by the Bureau to be Helpful Before You Buy and Dependable After You Buy in all transactions brought to the attention of the Bureau.

• How does Consumer Bureau help reputable business people? By introducing them favorably to prospective new customers — especially new residents of Princeton.

• How can I find out which business people are listed on the Consumer Bureau Register? Look in the classified pages of Town Topics. Or note the Consumer Bureau emblem in other advertising of Consumer Bureau Registered business people. Or call 924-0338 and learn right away whether any business firm you name is on the complete unpublished Consumer Bureau Register.

• What if I'm having a problem with a Consumer Bureau Registered business firm (or any other business firm located within 25 miles of Princeton)? Just call 924-0338 and state your name and the name of the business firm involved. Consumer Bureau's public relations staff will investigate the matter and either straighten it out to the satisfaction of all concerned or bring it before the next meeting of the Board of Directors for review. (In any such review, the Board will drop or bar from the Register any business firm not found by the Board to qualify for use of the Bureau's slogan "Helpful Before You Buy — Dependable After You Buy").

• How is the Consumer Bureau Register kept up to date? By new consumer recommendations and also by consumer problems referred to the Board for review.

• Is there a charge for any of these Consumer Bureau services? No. There is no charge — either to consumers or to business people.

• Then who pays the cost of operation of the Bureau? Consumer Bureau Registered business people who wish to advertise the fact that they are on the Consumer Bureau Register are charged a fee for that extra privilege and part of that fee goes to pay the operating expenses of the Bureau.

• Can a business person or firm buy Consumer Bureau Registration? No. And only Consumer Bureau Registered business people can arrange to use the Consumer Bureau name or emblem in their advertising.

Saturday "to take care of troublemakers"; and (4) a statement from Maj. Gen. Collins to the effect that there will be no war games for children at Fort Dix in the future.

PTA FAIR PLANNED

In West Windsor, The West Windsor Township PTA has scheduled its annual fair for Saturday at Maurice Hawk School, Clarkville Road, Princeton Junction, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., rain or shine. The theme for the fair is "Follow the Yellow Brick Road," from "The Wizard of Oz." Fair chairman Mrs. Vilis Buzickis promises special attractions for younger children, a "Munchkin Country Club" for golfers, and a "Girly Dunk."

Mrs. Marcia Pearce of West Windsor will demonstrate candle making at the fair and offer her work for sale. Original paintings are being offered by E. L. Little, Joan Needham, Helen Schwartz and Lorraine Reed.

An auction is scheduled for noon, with bidding on goods and services offered by community businesses. Plants, baked goods, frozen casseroles, toys, records, books and handicrafts will be on sale.

JOB FELE SATURDAY

31 Hired Already. Princeton's first "Job Fele" will be held from 2:30 p.m. this Saturday at the YMCA, jointly sponsored by the John-Witherspoon Civic Association and the YWCA.

So far, 31 jobs have been filled with Princeton young people, hired by firms who needed help right away before the Job Fele was actually held.

Mrs. Richard Edwards, prime mover for the Fele, announced at a press conference Friday that 175 young people, ages 14-21, had signed up.

When the Y's doors open on Saturday, these young job-seekers will find counselors ready to greet them; professionals from business and from the schools, who will have job lists ready to discuss with the teen applicants.

Two groups of employers will be represented: those who have filled jobs; those who have jobs open. Included are the three municipalities participating in the Fele—Princeton Borough, Princeton Township and West Windsor—with the new jobs they will have open this summer in addition to the 114 jobs they normally fill in the summer time.

There will be 25 Fort Dix jobs, and others at Princeton University, various small-business firms in town, the big companies, jobs available through YES (the Youth Employment Service) and volunteer jobs in which teen-agers can serve the community without pay. Many companies will send professional personnel, Mrs. Edwards said.

Come Anyway. Young job-seekers who haven't yet signed up, may go to the Fele on Saturday afternoon, but previous applicants who have been through the training sessions, may be given priority.

Mrs. Edwards reported that between 30 and 75 young people are also invited to the Fele itself on Saturday.

Work for the Town. Mayor Henry S. Patterson of the Borough, reported that the three local governments have jobs available with the recreation department, the library, and in open space projects.

"We hope to have teen-agers working in some of our open space areas to make them accessible to the public," the mayor explained, "clearing a way the beer cans we purchased along with the land."

Jobs filled so far have been in accounting (particularly at RCA through Borough Councilman Robert Hendry, said Mayor Patterson); typists, grounds and custodial help at American Cyanamid; accounting, lab. workers and business office help at Princeton University; clerical and grounds employees at Educational Testing Service; a lab. trainee at Shell.

The Institute for Advanced Study offered to hire four groundsmen if the Fele would produce a young man qualified to act as foreman of the crew. The Fele did, and now all five will have summer jobs.

Girls are the ones who have difficulty, Fele chairman admitted. Many girls have typing and clerical skills to offer, but finding a part-time summer job for such skills is difficult. Retail sales positions are badly needed for young Princeton girls.

Throughout the summer, coke parties will be held once a month for everybody holding a steady job. The young men and women will exchange experiences, and the adults will keep notes for next year's Fele.

Mrs. Heath Licklider, representing the YWCA in the Fele, said that employers who encounter difficulties with their young job-holders have been asked to call the Y. Counselors will be assigned to the youngsters to talk things over. Mrs. Licklider said she hopes that the Fele will be an on-going project for the YWCA year round.

Almost 100 adult volunteers from the Princeton community have been organizing and working on the Job Fele. Mrs. Michael Erdman and Mrs. John T. McLaughlin have been in charge of the Employer Division, interviewing the large firms around Princeton. Joan Yeoman of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, has been in charge of smaller firms.

Two Princeton ministers, the Rev. Harold Thomas of Witherspoon Presbyterian and the Rev. James Whittemore of Trinity, are co-chairmen. Mrs. James Andrews has handled publicity.

Some 50 professional volunteers in personnel and related fields, have contributed their time and skill. Ten women formed a telephone committee to do follow-up calls on smaller firms. Mr. John Reed and Mrs. Parke Armstrong will set up the booths on Saturday.

Suggestions for Parents of Teenagers

These comments on the problems currently confronting adolescents and their parents, originally printed in February, 1966, are offered again in response to a parent's belief that they are still particularly timely. Chief Francis McGuire of the West Windsor made these suggestions on the basis of his experience as Princeton Borough juvenile officer and as lieutenant on the Borough force:

1. Parents should be interested in knowing something about the background of their child's friends and acquaintances. Try to get acquainted with the parents of his companions.
2. Make checks once in a while on your child's maturity. Don't think that he or she has grown up. If he wants to go to a dance, check on it and make sure he goes. If it's a pajama party your daughter wants to attend, call the home and double check.
3. If a child has to receive medicine in prescription form, I recommend that the parent control the dosage. Don't let the child carry that medicine around.
4. Take account of how he or she looks physically and behaves mentally. Has he reached his capacity in school or is there an unexplained trend towards poor marks, sleepiness, lack of energy and a desire to stay home from school? Does he lack interest in sports or other activities? These are indications that something is eating him — pills, or something else.
5. Parents should be up when a child returns home from evening activities. As all Princeton activities for youth are over by midnight, there is no good reason why a child should be out until 1:30 or 2 a.m. Give him a dime for a phone call home.
6. Inquire about the transportation to and from a party or any other activity. If you lend the family auto, find out where it is going and log the destination. Make sure it isn't to Staten Island or New York City.
7. Encourage group activity, YMCA or school dances, rather than individual parties at home. (A lot of home parties are held when parents are away.)
8. Volunteer your services as chaperones.
9. Encourage your child to bring his friends home. Something is wrong when he doesn't . . . either with your home or his friends.
10. Discourage drinking at home. There are many pros and cons about this, but we still say that a drink at Christmas and Easter is only condoning drinking before 21. We hear, "My parents let me drink" so many times.
11. Both parents should be in agreement when giving permission. The young people play one parent against the other.

Chief McGuire adds one more: "I find recently that the youngsters are losing respect for their elders, whether they be police, or neighbors or other citizens. Parents need to set an example."

erated in an outstanding way," commented Mayor Patterson. He said that a state official, assigned to New Jersey's teen job problem, had come to Princeton's Job Fete chairman to help and to learn. "It's going fabulously well," said Mrs. Edwards, "parents and the children themselves — they're great!"

MINI-RIOT CONTAINED

At Princeton University, A raid on Brown Hall on the Princeton University Campus by two other freshman dormitories last Thursday night resulted in 15 broken windows, glass littering and a car theft, before protesters moved in to stop the disturbance. The car belonged to Director of Security H. Walter Dodwell, who left it unoccupied and running while he and other protesters were warning students of the penalties for damaging university property, inside the Brown Hall courtyard.

The rioting ensued when some 25 freshmen from Dod and Witherspoon Halls exploded firecrackers, wrapped in rolls of toilet paper in each of Brown's four entries, while turning out the dormitory's lights. A barrage of cherry bombs, toilet paper, water balloons and empty bottles followed the initial assault, and Brown decided to retaliate.

About 30 Brown Hall residents ignored water balloons exploding around them to chase their assailants back to their dorms. The protesters arrived just as the counter-attack had ended, and as Dod dwellers began to pummel Brown with rotten oranges fired from a giant slingshot on the second floor. Dod also used a loudspeaker to aim verbal assaults at Brown.

The car thief crashed through a wooded traffic barrier at one end of the campus, drove down Faculty Road to Washington Road and out to Route 1, pursued by two protesters in another vehicle at speeds up to 90 m.p.h. After running three traffic lights going south on Route 1, he returned to the campus, by way of Alexander Road, where he abandoned the car. It received minor damage.

Mr. Dodwell called Dod residents out of their rooms after the incident to tell them they "would pay for any damage," and quarantined the dormitory for the rest of the night. Although Mr. Dodwell told the students he would prosecute for car theft in criminal court, the threat was dropped the next day. Prosecutors say they have a definite suspect, who will face the Dean of Students if taken into custody.

REPAVING NEARS

For John Street. The repaving of John Street between Wiggins and Leigh Avenue will begin soon, according to Borough Engineer Thomas Cawley. The last 100 feet or so that lies in the Township will be paid for by that municipality, he said. Right now, a section of the sanitary sewer is being replaced.

Two beautification projects at the head of Nassau Street are continuing. Both are being financed by private organizations.

Remodeling of the Princeton War Memorial Park at Mercer and Nassau Streets bit a snag. Mr. Cawley reported, when the contractor, excavating for new sidewalks, ran into the foundation of the old Farr Hardware building that once stood at the site.

Apparently, he said, they just dropped the walls onto the old foundation rather than removing them completely. The $6500 project, which is being paid for by the American Legion posts and private donors, calls for the construction of sidewalks from either side to the existing circular concrete seat plus a new concrete approach from the front. The changes would make the memorial more prominent to those passing by on Mercer and Nassau Streets. Additional plantings are planned, too. Completion is scheduled in about three weeks.

The remodeling of the French Market located in the inland acres of the TOWN TOPICS should be finished by the middle of next week, Mr. Cawley said. The Princeton Garden Club is financing the

WE DO!

HERE IN PRINCETON, during the past several weeks, there has been a dramatic variety in the major accidents reported: a head-on collision on Mount Lucas Road (five people injured, two seriously, and total damage to the front ends of both cars); two motorcyclists on the Kingston Road collided in passing (one rider suffering a broken arm and a concussion);

A car rammed a bus on the Kingston bridge — the car is shown above (10 people hurt, one critically, the car totally wrecked and the front end of the bus damaged when it careened into a utility pole);

A boy 5, was hit in front of John Witherspoon School near Guyot, an area that has caused the Safety Committee grave concern since the school opened;

A car driven by a girl, 17, jumped the curb at Stockton near Hibben Road (car totally wrecked, resident's property considerably damaged); one midnight, a man lost control of his car on Route 206 near Cherry Valley, struck a utility pole (car front a total loss);

And there was the car that sideswiped another on Bayard Lane near Hodge Road, injuring a passenger . . .

There is an invisible speed limit for driving a car . . . a limit that varies according to road, weather and traffic conditions. Adjust sensibly. The posted speed limit only gives you the safe speed for perfect driving conditions. Take care.

We care!

HOW'S YOUR STOCK?

Would an emergency at home or on vacation find your family without adequate first aid supplies? Here's a list compiled by the American Medical Association. Assemble your supplies now, before you need them:

- Individual package-type sterile dressings for open wounds or burns. (Dressings size 2 x 2" and 4 x 4")
- Roller bandages for finger bandages (1" by 5 yds) and for holding dressings in place (2" by 5 yds.)
- Roll of adhesive tape to hold dressings in place.
- Bath towels and bed sheets which can be cut into sizes necessary to cover wounds.
- Triangular bandage (37" by 37") for a sling, for a dressing, or as a covering.
- Safety pins, blunt-tip scissors, tweezers, measuring spoons, eye dropper and wooden tongue blades.
- Splints for broken arms and legs (select 1/4-inch thick, 3 1/2 inch wide, 12 to 14 inches long).
- Tourniquet (wide strip of cloth, or flexible rubber tubing 20 inches long) to use in very severe injuries when no other method will control bleeding.
- Short stick to use with tourniquet.
- One bar of mild soap for cleansing wounds, scratches and cuts. Antiseptics generally are not available.
- Paper drinking cups.
- Flashlight — replace batteries periodically.
- Syrup of ipecac (1 ounce) to induce vomiting.
- Essential personal prescriptions.
- A first aid guidebook, such as the AMA First Aid Manual.

When traveling by auto include a blanket to keep an injured person warm or to make a stretcher, and warning flares to use if your car is stalled on the highway.

"Who Cares, I'm Insured."

Car thefts have increased four times faster than population growth during the past 10 years and now constitute the most frequent crime against property in the United States. Eight out of 10 cars are stolen by youngsters under 21; 10% to 20% of all stolen cars are never recovered.

A stolen car may mean the loss of an entire automobile or its partial destruction. The loss may be covered by the car owner's insurance policy, but this coverage doesn't take care of the frustration, worry, inconvenience, expense and general disruption of normal activity that the victim experiences.

Basic precautions for motorists: include:

- 1) Close windows, lock doors and trunk.
- 2) Park in a well-lighted area, avoid alleys and places where a thief may work unobserved.
- 3) Know your car's serial number, make, model, year, color and license plate number.
- 4) REMOVE THE KEYS FROM THE IGNITION and keep them with you.

Many motorists don't realize the extent to which they are affected if their car is stolen. Most, in fact, usually say, "Who cares, I'm insured." It's not that simple.

Keep Kids From Bug Killers

Scientists who study insects have these suggestions for protecting small children from accidental poisoning:

- Keep bait poisons out of a child's reach.
- If you put woollens in mothballs, store them in a LOCKED drawer or chest.
- Store pesticides under lock and key.
- Burn empty pesticide bags, and stay out of the smoke.

The researchers stress that more children eat pesticides in late spring than at any other season.

FOOD FANTASIES

Here are a few of the more common, modern-day misconceptions about food, compiled by the AMA:

Wine makes blood. (It doesn't.)

Olives, oysters and raw eggs increase sexual potency. (They don't.)

Raw vegetable juice contains life-giving properties, but cooked foods are "dead." (Not so.)

If a few vitamins are good, more must be better. (Not correct.)

Never give milk to a patient with fever. (The milk won't affect the fever at all.)

Beets build blood. (They don't.)

Pork is indigestible. (It is no more indigestible than other meats.)

For the treatment of arthritis, grape juice, honey, dried poke berries, carrot juice and tomatoes are helpful. (They're not.)

Cooked cereals heat the blood. (They don't.)

Ice water causes heart trouble. (It doesn't.)

THE YOUTH OF THE EARLY 1900's actually danced around the May pole — and a charming scene it was, as shown above at Princeton Theological Seminary. The boys went this way and the girls that way — with a group in the center to catch the pole if it should waver. As the shadows lengthened, the dancers sat on the grass and ate sweet ices and little cakes . . .

SCHOOL REPORT READY

On Transportation. The transportation report made by the Princeton Regional School Board by members of the administrative staff will be made public next Tuesday when the board holds its May meeting at 8 p.m. in the all-purpose room at Johnson Park School, Rosedale Road.

Plans for vocational education of Princeton High School pathwise with and support the students, discussed at the special meeting on vocational education held April 16, will be announced at Tuesday night's meeting.

In addition, board members will discuss a proposed schedule for next year under which students would be dismissed each Wednesday at 12:30.

After Tuesday night's discussion, board members will meet with parents at several locations throughout Princeton to explore opinion on the new proposal. No decision will be made until after these public meetings.

DREWRY DISCUSSES AIMS

Of Memorial Day Rally.

Henry Drewry, president of the Princeton Association for Human Rights, expressed concern on Monday about misunderstandings arising over the planned Memorial Day demonstration in Washington.

"It is imperative that Princetonians understand the importance of a nationwide show of support for the Poor People's Campaign by both rich and poor, black and white."

"The Congress cannot help but be affected by the sight of tens of thousands of people who are willing to come to Washington for one day to show peacefully that they sympathize with and support the legitimate goals of the Poor People's Campaign."

Four buses have been chartered for the Support March by PAHR, Princeton Pastors' Association and Informed Citizens Advocating Action. Mr. Drewry urged every one who could to make the trip. He said, "If the non-violent approach to the poverty problem is unsuccessful, the way may be cleared for those advocating militant action to step in."

Reservations at $5 per round trip may be made by calling Mrs. John Hite, 921-2090. Information as to the trip may be obtained from the Poor People's Campaign table in Palmer Square.

Townswomen who are staffing the table this week include Mrs. Lester Chandler, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. Hite, Mrs. Meredith Langberg, Mrs. William Egan, Mrs. Thrall Barling Gould and Mrs. Reynold Steinhoff.

TELEPHONE CABLE CUT

Lawrenceville Area Affected.

Hundreds of residents of Lawrenceville and the surrounding area were without telephone service Monday night and all day Tuesday as a result of the cutting of a New Jersey Bell telephone cable around 9:30 p.m. Monday.

According to Lawrenceville Township Police, a Lawrenceville resident saw a man in a tree on Monroe Avenue in Lawrenceville sawing through the lead-jacketed cable, which serviced 700 phones. Company supervisors worked more than 12 hours repairing the sabotage, which required the splicing and testing of the 900 "pair" wires. Service was restored late Tuesday night.

Telephones were out of service to Lawrenceville School, the Morris Home for the Aged, and between the police and firehouse on Tuesday, and emergency lines and two-way radio communication were used instead.

A company spokesman said it was the fifth cable cutting since Thursday and the 80th in six weeks. The current strike by members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is now six weeks old, with negotiations in an apparent stalemate.

FIVE ARE INJURED

In Intersection Collision. Five Princeton area residents were injured Tuesday night in a collision between two cars at the intersection of Poe Road and Prospect Avenue Extension.

Lawrence E. Benson 2d, 19, of Providence Line Road, Skillman, one of the drivers, suffered multiple abrasions of his entire body plus multiple lacerations about his face and head. His passenger, Paul Beetz, 18, of Watertown, Conn., received a concussion, contusions, lacerations of the forehead and a sprained knee.

The second driver, Laurence J. Sanford Jr., 44, 910 Princeton-Kingston Road sustained minor bruises, but his wife, Elizabeth, received a severe laceration of the face and right leg and multiple contusions and lacerations. Steven Sanford, 15, received a contusion of the chest wall.

All were treated at Princeton Hospital.

Pl. David Wilbur ticketed Mr. Benson for failing to stop at a stop sign. Mr. Sanford told him that he tried to veer to the left when the Benson car came out of Prospect Avenue without stopping but his car was hit on the right front fender. The front ends of both cars were extensively damaged.

After the first impact, the Sanford car continued on and damaged a 30-foot tree owned by the State Highway Department. The Benson car then ran into a Public Service pole.

Richard R. Funk, 17, of Langhorne, Pa. was treated at Princeton Hospital for scrapes and bruises Thursday evening after his car went through a guard rail fence on Quaker Road and ran down an embankment.

He told police his car started to swerve when he came out of a curve about a quarter of a mile east of Quaker Bridge Road. He lost control and his car left the road and tore up a piece of guard rail fence. The entire left side, front and undercarriage of his car were damaged.

12:29 Saturday morning on Bayard Lane near Westcott. Abraham Mitchell, 27, and James D. Craig, 29, and his passenger, James Basile Jr., were riding abreast of each other on Bayard Lane when an automobile appeared directly in their route of travel. In attempting to avoid hitting the car, the two cycles brushed together and then veered apart, one jumping the curb.

Pt. Bernard Lenhardt administered first aid at the scene to Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Basile. Both men were later treated at Princeton Hospital for lacerations and released. Mr. Craig refused medical attention at the hospital for a swelling and bruises of his left leg.

Mrs. Muriel W. McClelland, 27, 19 Greenview Avenue, was ticketed with careless driving Thursday when her small foreign car ran into a parked car on Witherspoon Street.

Her passenger, Lois Wasserspring, 26, 72 Witherspoon, received two sutures at Princeton Hospital to close a head cut. Both women hit the windshield with their heads and knees, police said.

SCHOOL BUDGET AGAIN
Board Plans for '69-'70. A series of preliminary school budget hearings will be held in the fall with various interested groups in the Princeton community. The Princeton Regional School Board announced this week.

The preliminary budget is expected to be ready for the discussions in September after a summer of work by the school superintendent, Dr. Philip E. McPherson; the school staff and the school board's finance chairman, Winthrop Pike.

The board hopes to end these hearings and get the budget in semi-final form soon after Thanksgiving. Then it will be presented to the public with a full explanation in plenty of time — the board hopes for the official public hearing in January. The election will be February 4.

Superintendent McPherson has announced that he will appoint Technical Advisory Committees of volunteer specialists in the Princeton community who will advise him on business management (including budgets), personnel, public relations and so on.

These will not be "citizens' advisory committees" responsible to the school board, but technical committees appointed by Dr. McPherson and responsible to him.

More Families Needed

A slow first response to the Fresh Air Fund drive in the Princeton area has been reported by Dr. John Dismukes, drive chairman. According to Dr. Dismukes only 35 families have responded, only 30% of the fund's goal for Mercer County, have volunteered to serve as hosts for needy children from New York City for a two-week summer vacation.

Dr. Dismukes pointed out that the drive to find families willing to participate must accelerate, because although the first children will not arrive until July 17, invitations from host families must be filled well in advance.

Unless the response improves, fewer children aged 12 to 15 will be able to escape from a long hot summer in New York City, and enjoy two weeks that could help to change a lifetime. For information call 921-2092 or write Dr. John Dismukes, Box 304, Princeton.

SUCCESS INDICATED

For Stratoscope II Project. Preliminary conclusions indicate that the recently organized Stratoscope II, which spent a little more than 14 hours drifting through the Texas sky photographing gaseous nebulosities and other astronomical objects last weekend has produced pictures of significant scientific interest. It is hoped that the photographs will answer questions regarding the birth, life and death of stars.

The 3 1/2 ton balloon-borne telescope was launched at 8:55 p.m. (EDT) last Saturday night from the Scientific Balloon Flight Station near Palestine, Texas. It returned to earth the following morning just before 11 a.m. about 50-60 miles east of Palestine.

Ground-based astronomers aimed at selected objects for more than eight hours through radio command and directed by television cameras flying with the telescope, while the balloon floated 80,000 feet above the earth and above 95% of the dust and turbulence of its atmosphere.

Dr. Martin Schwarzschild, director of the project, said the flight appeared to be basically successful, emphasizing that the estimate was a tentative one, based upon the apparently successful operation of the telescope and other equipment during the night. In-flight measurement of focus indicates that air turbulence within the telescope may degrade the photographic images, he said.

About one week will be required to print and analyze the more than 100 frames of 70mm film.

SEVEN ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Seven Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough Court.

Andrew V. Cahill, 38, 22 Philip Avenue, and Eleanor C. Flory, 41, 56 Robert Road, were each fined $12 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for red light violations. Ray Mack, 30, 225 N. Harrison Street, paid the same sum for disregarding an officer's signal.

Paying fines of $15 each were Lamar J. Cecil, Jr., 36, 55 Mountain Avenue, stop sign; John Twanmer of Hopewell, no name on commercial vehicle; and Margaret L. Willard, Stony Brook Lane, careless driving. Speeding cost Volter Russ, 25, 402 Devereux Street, $36.

In Township court last week, Magistrate Lynn B. Miller Jr. fined Glenn Crawford, 65, 103 Battle Road, and John D. Savotti, 17, Springfield Road, Skillman, $10 each. Mr. Crawford pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving. Willie McSavotti was fined for a stop sign violation.

"Dog Petition" Too Extreme.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
We feel that the petition for total dog restraint now circulating in the Township is entirely too extreme. It penalizes all dogs and their owners, whereas only a handful are troublesome.

Petition "Overly Stringent."
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The dog leash petition currently being circulated in the Township has been called a "P.T.O. sponsored petition."
This is entirely inaccurate.
At its January meeting, the Riverside P.T.O. Executive Board voted to urge dog owners to keep dogs off school grounds at all times and to restrain them when children are going to and from school. At 8:00 time since then has the dog issue been raised at the Riverside P.T.O. Board meeting.

Although sub-committees have been formed to look into the question of controlling unruly dogs, the P.T.O. of Riverside as a body has never even considered any such overly stringent and restrictive regulation as all-inclusive leashing.
ARIANNE KASSOF
(Mrs. Allen Kassof)
Vice President,
Riverside P.T.O.

Pay for Council Advocated.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
At no other time in the history of the operation of the Borough of Princeton have the demands of the Mayor and Council to participate in the development of the community, formation of new policies, and the preparation of programs for the future been so pressing.

At the same time, the elected officials are required to maintain an acceptable image before the electorate consistent with that given at the time of their election. The many hours of time devoted to their responsibilities, which necessitate the use of their personal property, have heretofore gone unreimbursed under the general theory of being privileged to serve in the unbroken gratis tradition.

This attitude, although commendable, infers that one not only has the time during the year but also has ample resources available to devote to the public interest. I, for one, do not personally subscribe to this theory, nor do I feel that the voters do. Nor do I feel that this should be a prerequisite to run for public office.
It also implies that only those in higher economic levels are qualified to run. This is an insult to the "democratic process" and is contrary to political party selection.

To go even further, the present system discourages many would-be office seekers because it firmly establishes wealth as a prerequisite to run for office. It implies that if one wishes to seek public office, he must work for a company that financially sponsors and encourages its employees to participate in community government. This would favor those working for community service-type companies, such as utility and water companies, etc., which encourage and favor their employees to seek office since they have a stake in the community.

It leaves the running of local government open to higher economic levels only, thereby depriving the lower income levels an effective voice in the community. Finally, it deprives certain class citizens, such as young men with low incomes and retired citizens living on a fixed income, from offering their services to the Borough.

It is my sincere hope that in introducing this ordinance of $100 each year to Councilmen in 1969, we do this with the realization that we are doing the maximum in our power to encourage our citizens to run for public office on a no-cost basis to them, and that we look at this "salary" rather as an honorarium or stipend to offset the loss of income from their jobs, to afford them at least the monetary means to encourage them to give freely of themselves, and to also maintain their family's economic level in administering to the needs of the community and its people.

The benefits to be derived from this ordinance are many.
For example, it would replace the current expense allowance privilege which is hardly useful as it might become related to the political arena.
Also, it would bind a Councilman to serve more diligently, since he would become as much an employee of the Borough as a policeman, and would remove him from a serve-when-available or volunteer basis.

The demands made on Councilmembers to administer in municipal departments such as the Fire and Police Commissioners, to serve and participate in numerous other community volunteer committees, the requirement to get involved in areas important to community operations coupled with the pressure to make financial contributions to community clubs and charitable causes.

some of these burdens and as a member of the Borough Fi-

TRENTON RALLY PLANNED
For Urban Aid. A statewide rally of urban aid supporters set for Monday will draw at least two hundreds of demonstrators from the Princeton area.

Mrs. Sheldon Hackney, who is heading arrangements for the League of Women Voters, said the Pastors Association, FAIR, Mercer County ACLA Chapter, Community Democratic Association and the Concerned Citizens of Mercer County will be represented at the rally, to indicate support of the urban aid recommendations made by Gov. Richard J. Hughes's riot study commission.

The League will send buses to the rally from the far corners of the Acme Parking Lot, at the Princeton Shopping Center, at 10 a.m. The buses will return at about 1 p.m. The cost of the trip is $1, and reservations may be made in advance through Mrs. Hackney, 924-4918.

Former Governors Alfred E. Driscoll and Robert E. Meyner are co-chairmen of the rally sponsoring committee, which includes U.S. Senators Clifford P. Case and Harrison A. Williams.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!
Town Meeting For Teens
Princeton teenagers will hold a town meeting this Friday at the Youth Center, 102 Witherspoon Street, to elect a Youth Council, replacing the present Youth Board.

The meeting will be in the afternoon and in the evening to accommodate after-school schedules. Nominations will be made from the floor. Also on the agenda is discussion of the Youth Council role in the Center. The teens are asking for a voice in policy-making and for more responsibility in running the Center.

Adult leadership of the Center is also about to change. A nominating committee is forming a proposed slate for the adult board. Saul Fox, named president this spring when Mrs. Alice Male resigned due to ill health, will not run for re-election as the plans to move to Bucks County, Pa., this summer. The adult elections will be held by the beginning of June, according to Mrs. Fox, also a board member.

The Center is seeking a director to replace Robert Engerstrom, who resigned several weeks ago. Wilbur Williamson is acting director.

In other developments at the Youth Center, more than $30,000 of the $35,000 for operations of the Center, Youth Associates and Presquay has been raised by the Youth Fund, headed by Dr. Jerry Grey.

The snack bar, which serves pre-packaged hot foods, has been opened by a planning committee composed of Tom Gamon, Dana Breese, Henry Lockhart, Nick Knorr, Peter Hirsch, Bill Merrill, Barbara Owen, Portia Edwards and Kevin Vernon.

GUIDING HANDS AT STUART: Mother Mary Cecelia Wheeler of Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, looks over school records with Franklin A. Steele, new chairman of the school's Advisory Board. James E. Burke, former chairman, is at the left.

BROOM SALE UNDERWAY
For Lions Club Projects. The Princeton Lions Club annual broom sale will continue through Saturday, June 1, with proceeds going toward the Lions Club's diverse projects, including a $1,000 scholarship and a Christmas party for children of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute.

Items offered this year will include the corn broom, corn whisk broom, 14" and 18" floor brushes with handles, all-steel dust brush, ironing board covers and garage and patio brooms.

YWCA DAY CAMP SET

For Three Sessions. The Princeton YWCA Day Camp heads into its 12th summer this year, with 3 two-week sessions: June 28 — July 12, July 15 — 28, and July 29 — August 9. Activities at the camp, held at the Princeton Racquet Club, Raymond Road near Kingston, will include arts and crafts, sports, camp craft, games, songs, trips, cookouts and swimming at the YWCA pool.

All girls having completed first through sixth grades are eligible to attend. A fee of $36 covers all programs, milk, insurance and a camp shirt.

Mrs. Susan Smith, a music teacher in Montgomery Township Schools, will serve as camp director. Mrs. Margaret Lawton will direct arts and crafts and Miss Susan Mapes will supervise waterfront activities. They will be assisted by senior counselors Linda Hixon, Ann Wright, Mary Herrman, Ellen Stone and Alice Lane, and junior counselors Laurie Wagner, Nancy Rogers, Carol Horowitz, Christine Didum, Peggy Cook and Geraldine La Placa. Counselors-in-training are Jo Ellen Lavigne, Liz Hlavacek, Barbara Wagner and Susan Tenney.

Further information and registration may be arranged through the YWCA office, 924-4825. Mrs. Janet Humes will supply specific details on schoolships.

RHODODENDRON SHOW SET
By Princeton Chapter. The Princeton Chapter of the American Rhododendron Society will present its second annual flower show Sunday and Monday, May 26 and 27, at Drumthwaite, to include 56 show classes, with three ribbons in each class.

New Jersey, Tappan Zee, New York and Philadelphia Chapters of the organization will participate. A rhododendron painting by Paul Darrow has been selected as the grand prize for the best exhibit of the show.

Mrs. Edwin R. Metcalf is general chairman of the show, assisted by Princeton residents Mrs. Elmer Grey, hospitality; —Continued On Page 26

Action Replaces Apathy on Princeton Campus

Non-Violent SDS Strives For Student Power

Princeton University, traditionally famed for its student apathy, is now encountering the same demands for student power that other colleges across the country are experiencing, largely as a result of action by the university's chapter of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

While Princeton's SDS has not been as violent as chapters on other campuses in advocating change, its members feel as serious about their ideas, and faculty and administration are not taking them lightly.

The recent march of some 600 students on Nassau Hall, to present President Robert F. Goheen with a list of eight demands, has crystallized issues for students and faculty alike, as reflected in editorials by the Daily Princetonian and lengthy faculty meetings to consider the student proposals.

Dr. Goheen views the SDS

with mixed feelings. "The SDS here has managed to dramatize issues in compelling fashion, bringing them to the attention of the administration, faculty and students. On other campuses, however, the SDS has shown a great disregard for the total freedom of the university, and an ability only to cause disruption."

No Neutral Ground. A student poll conducted shortly after the latest demonstration revealed wide differences of opinion on the SDS, but less than one student in 50 had no reaction at all.

Paul Sittenfeld, the Princeton Junior defeated by SDS spokesman Peter Kaminsky for presidency of the Undergraduate Assembly (UGA), the student government, said the SDS "confuses the valuable ideas it proposes with a tone of belligerence that cuts off support."

SDS action this year has included a sit-in at the Institute for Defense Analyses, a federal, classified-research project using University faculty members; where 29 students were arrested last October; performances by the SDS's "Radical Arts Troupe" critical of the administration; and a 300-man march on a trustees' meeting to protest university investments in companies with holdings in South Africa.

Some students feel that the SDS should be acting in other areas. An SDS-sponsored march on Mooren in April to protest the shooting of a Negro during rioting in Trenton was termed "insulting and hypocritical" by Elliott D. Moorman, the Negro president of next year's sophomore class.

Few Negroes in SDS. "Although the SDS has provided needed leadership in many areas," Mr. Moorman says, "their action on the black problem has been very negative. The SDS's dramatization of the Trenton death does little to strike at the heart of the black situation." Mr. Moorman, who resigned from the SDS early in the year in opposition to its black policies, said that only two or three Negroes were now SDS members.

BUSINESS In Princeton

NEW DIRECTOR ELECTED
By Chamber of Commerce.
Rudolph C. Gabel of Aero Chem Research Laboratories has been elected a director of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce. He will serve the remainder of the three-year term vacated by Hans Eichenberger, who has resigned.

The chamber also announced that limousine service is going to serve Newark Airport also, but has not been granted permission yet. Fares have not been announced, but the cost is expected to be about $10 one way. Princeton pickup points will be at both the Princeton Inn and the Nassau Inn.

ORC OFFICIAL TO SPEAK
At Washington Convention.
Robert D. Best, manager of Index Services at Opinion Research Corporation's "ORC Public Opinion Index," will speak Monday at the American Freed Manufacturers Association's annual convention.

His speech, "The Public Opinion Challenge to American Business," will review the public's attitudes on air and water pollution control, consumer protection issues and employment opportunities.

CONGRESSMEN BRIEFED
By Gallup Poll Editors.
The results of a national survey on political attitudes of young people was presented to Congressmen of both parties last week in Washington, by Gallup Poll officers George Gallup Jr. and John O. Davies III.

The survey was conducted as a public service by the Gallup Poll in conjunction with the American Heritage Foundation's program on citizen participation in politics.

The research showed young adults in their 20's to be "more opinion than hippie," revealing a genuine interest and constructive approach to American politics, according to the editors.

The report also said the "generation gap" had been greatly exaggerated. Young adults, according to the survey fit into "the mainstream of public opinion," despite minor differences—between this age group's preferences and their elders'.

The political trends in the college age group, the survey noted, are "sharper and more volatile" than trends in the young adult group. Views of college students may serve as a portent of political trends in the young adult group, the report said, just as the young adult group is a "weather-vane" for older voting blocs.

The high mobility of the 21-30 age group will make registration difficult or impossible for a large segment of the young adult class, according to the survey, but a turnout in November of at least 13 million is expected.

FETE CHEFS: Three members of the Lions Club (from left) Bernard Glover, president; Paul J. Hill and Harold Ostroff will be in charge of the '49 Cafe at the Hospital Fete serving up plenty of barbecued chicken, called "Wahoo Chicken," in keeping with the frontier theme of the Fete.

While Democrats outnumber Republicans in this age group by about 2-to-1, independents outnumber both party affiliations, a trend that began in 1964.

SUMMER HELP COVERED
By Unemployment Law. The State Division of Employment Security reminds all employers that full-time services of those employed during the summer vacation period, including student minors, are covered by the state's unemployment insurance law.

Edward J. Hall, division director, pointed out that both employer and worker contributions for unemployment and disability insurance purposes must be paid on wages earned by student help. Also, students working full-time must be counted in determining whether the business is covered by the law, Mr. Hall said.

Generally, those employers covered under the law are ones who have had one or more workers in their employ for some portion of a day in 20 weeks or more in a calendar year. Mr. Hall commented that the law excludes from coverage part-time services performed by a minor whose principal occupation is a student.

ADDITION PLANS DRAWN

By Princeton Firm. Holt & Moxam, 10 Nassau Street, have designed a three-story addition to the library at the Rutgers campus in Camden, to be constructed at a cost of more than $1 million.

The air-conditioned addition will provide shelf space for 200,000 volumes, triple the present library's capacity, and include working space for 650 students in its 30,500 square feet. Special facilities include a microfilm reading room and an area to house a collection of rare books.

BRANCH OFFICES OPENED

By ADR Subsidiary. Data & Information Products, Inc. (DIP), an Applied Data Research, Inc. subsidiary, has opened branches in New York, St. Louis and Milwaukee.

DIP, a marketing sales company specializing in representing data processing companies, was acquired by ADR in 1967, to serve as a marketing arm for ADR's proprietary software programs and other services. DIP has executive offices in Chicago, with an already established branch in Detroit.

5,000 TOUR IBM PLANT

At Dayton. An estimated 5,000 persons, including residents of central New Jersey and educational and government representatives from Mercer and Middlesex counties toured the manufacturing plant and new headquarters of IBM's Information Records Division located in Dayton last weekend.

Visitors viewed a wide variety of products ranging from data processing cards to microfilm equipment, and cast thousands of "votes" using the IBM vote recorder, which enables computers to tabulate official election ballots accurately at electronic speeds. Vintage punched card manufacturing machines dating back to World War I were also on display.

The division's headquarters on the 90-acre site is celebrating its tenth anniversary.

WRAP-UP FOR SPRING

One Title Won, One Shared. The only team championship to which Princeton could lay at least partial claim during the academic year now draws to a close. The Tigers' way Saturday at Annapolis. John Conroy's tennis team blanked Navy, 9 to 0, thereby achieving a first place tie in the Eastern Association standings with Harvard and Penn. A 4-4 loss to the Quakers of Philadelphia was Princeton's only loss this spring. A victory over Harvard, which in turn lost to Penn, created the identical three-way deadlock that had existed among these teams in 1965. The team's overall record was a fine 11-1.

Earlier this spring, Mike Porter won the individual title in the Eastern Intercollegiate golf championship. Princeton finished with a 103 record after losing to Harvard, 43, at Brookline Friday. Next month, Dutch Schuch will take his team to the NCAA Tournament in New Mexico.

Princeton's lacrosse team saved its best game for last, but its best wasn't quite enough. The Tigers dropped an overtime decision to Col-nell here Saturday, the 7-6 defeat leaving them tied for second with Yale in the final standings.

Ithaca's Undeclared. Cornell had already won the title on a basis of its perfect record had it not been for the team that also defeated the team that had upset it at Ithaca a year ago. The Red came into the game with an 11-0 mark and had been 11-1 a year ago, following Princeton's surprise victory in the context that defied the 1967 Ivy title.

The loss here Saturday hinged on the Tigers' forgetfulness that "the best defense is a good offense." Generally in control of the game well into the fourth quarter, they were out-battled to a 6-4 lead with no more than five minutes left on the clock.

Instead of pressing their advantage, they went into a freeze. Twice Cornell stole the ball, scoring each time it came into possession to draw even and send the game into an extra period.

The visitors then took a 7-6 lead as early as 1:02 of the overtime round and that proved to be the final score. The loss left Princeton with a 3-6-2 mark, its worst in many years.

WALTERS AT DARTMOUTH As Freshman Basketball Coach, Gary Walters, the 5-10 back court player who graduated from Princeton in 1967, has been named freshman basketball coach at Dartmouth.

Walters was a three-year veteran on the Tiger varsity, serving as the "quarterback" first on the team that starred Bill Bradley and reached the semi-finals of the NCAA Tournament at Portland, Ore. He joins another Princetonian at Hanover—Bob Casella, 27, is a member of Coach Bob Blackman's staff in football.

TRACK RECORDS FALL

As Tigers Whip Cornell. The best performance a Princeton track team has given in many seasons enabled it to defeat Cornell handily Saturday in Palmer Stadium. It was a 98-55 final in a meet that had figured to be close.

Coach Pete Morgan's operatives set three meet and two university records while winning 11 of the 18 first places. Rick Bracken, football captain, bettered his own mark in the discuss for the fourth time this spring with a throw that traveled 138 feet, 4 inches.

In the triple jump, Dave Lawyer covered 49 feet, 1/2 inch for a Princeton mark. It was one of the top performances in the east this spring. Earlier in the week, Yale's Heptagonal champions had trounced Princeton at New Haven, 102 to 52. The worst mark for the season was 42.

On wind-blown Clarke Field Saturday, a weak Manhattan team yielded ten hits, eight walks, 11 stolen bases and tossed in five errors to keep the Tigers moving at a rapid pace. The outcome was a 9-1 triumph, senior Steve Cushman coasting to the victory on the mound.

A four-run first told the story and two more in the second made it an early runaway. The outcome gave Princeton a chance to finish its season at the 500 mark against independents. The Tigers are now 8-10 outside the league and they have a home-and-home series left with Lafayette. The first of these will be played here Saturday at 3.

semi-finals Friday and the championship game Saturday. If rain interferes, the action will go over into Sunday, with the winner heading for the College World Series in Omaha. The four teams to play here will be selected Monday, nearby Rider possibly among them.

PDS NINE TO FACE HUN
To Final Contest. The Princeton Day School baseball team, which has suffered miserably this season from weak pitching and hitting in compiling a 1-9 record through last Friday, will play its final game Friday against its cross-town rival, the Hun School. The game is set for 3:30 on the PDS diamond.

The Red and Black's fortunes have come the opposite way from those of the Panthers this year, and it is currently leading the Penn-Jersey league with a 7-2 mark. A game against Lawrenceville JV scheduled to be played Wednesday afternoon presented PDS with a better chance of picking up its third win.

Captain John Claghorn turned in another creditable performance on the mound last Friday, proving he has shaken off his control problems, but the Blue and White batters could only manage one run and two hits, and dropped a 6-1 decision to Peddie.

Coach Dick Barnes called the Highlanders "squad," the best we have faced all year." The Peddie pitcher permitted the Panthers a run in the first inning on doubles by Jacobelli and Craig Page and then shut the door completely for the next seven innings, fanning 11 PDS batters along the way.

The Panthers clung to the 1-0 lead through the third, but Peddie pushed across three in the fourth and added one more in the fifth and two in the sixth. Claghorn gave up six hits, walked four and was hurt by three PDS errors, which made three of Peddie's runs unearned.

Against Moorestown last Wednesday, the Blue and White's hitting attack was active enough to account for six runs, but the pitching gave up 12 walks to Moorestown including seven in one inning. Barnes commented that in almost every game this year the opposition has come up with one big inning that put the contest out of reach.

Dave Claghorn, John's younger brother, started on the mound for the first time this season, and pitched fairly well until the bottom of the fifth. John relieved him and gave up the last two Moorestown runs. As is their custom the Panthers started quickly scoring runs in the first inning. A walk to Jacobelli and a double by Page.

Moorestown countered with three in the bottom of the first, but PDS rallied for three in the third, on a single by Terry Booth, doubles by Dave Claghorn and Jacobelli and a sacrifice fly by Page. The winners tied the score in their half and wrapped up matters in the fifth.

PDS STICKMEN BEATEN
By Lawrenceville. A second half let-down cost the Princeton Day School lacrosse team a chance to maintain its record at the .500 mark last week, as the Panthers dropped games to George School and Lawrenceville JV. The season's final game was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 against Hun away. Ahead at the half by a 4-1 margin against Lawrenceville last Friday, the Blue and White could find the range only once in the second half, while the winners poured in five, the last one coming with just 23 seconds left in the game, to capture a 6-5 victory.

Jerry King got the Panthers off to a promising start with the game less than two minutes old, when he scored the team's first goal, John Veron, Dave MacLeod and Evan Donaldson also tallied in the first half, while the Larries were limited to a single score. After the intermission, however, Lawrenceville displayed an organized offense that beat the PDS defense several times, while the losers' attack lost much of its efficiency. Donaldson got the lone PDS score in the third period.

Last Wednesday, the Panthers almost managed to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the George School, but came up on the short end of a 13-11 score. It was a marked improvement, however, over the 10-2 drubbing they absorbed last time out against George. The winners drew first blood and although the Panthers managed to come within one they could never gain tie. King spearheaded the PDS attack with five tallies, followed by Dave MacLeod with two, and Rick Judge, Bob O'Connor.

Before buying any riding tractor, take its measure with Simplicity

■ SELECTION? With Simplicity in 1968, you pick from five new tractors ($5 to 12 hp) and a 4 hp riding mower. You get "job-tailored" tractor choice.

■ NO-SCALP MOWING? If the mower's mounted on the tractor frame, you'll get scalping. By contrast, Simplicity's patented mounting suspends the mower from the front axle. Can't scalp — because the front wheels "telegraph" every change in ground contour.

■ ARE THE ATTACHMENTS MATCHED? Some tractor-makers buy and "adapt" basic attachments. But Simplicity designs and builds its own. When you put a Simplicity attachment on a Simplicity tractor, the combination works in perfect harmony.

■ WHAT'S INVOLVED IN THE CHANGING ATTACHMENTS? Don't take anybody's word for it. Insist on a demonstration. You'll be amazed at the quick-changing difference the results from Simplicity's made-for-each-other-tractor-attachment design.

■ START COMPARING! Our yardstick of riding tractor values demonstrates the measurable difference between Simplicity and all other brands.

FINAL GAME MONDAY
For Little Tiger Nick, A disappointing season, interrupted all too infrequently by days of rare achievement such as last week's brilliant 5-0 victory over Trenton, will end Monday afternoon for the Princeton High School baseball team when Hunterdon Central will appear here for the finale. Game time is 4 p.m.

Bucked up by errorless ball field by his teammates, Them Yoder slammed the door visiting, Torrance, limiting them to one hit. That was a line drive through the middle of the box in the second inning by catcher Bill Hood, who was summarily erased on a double play.

Held himself for themselves by three innings by Trenton, big Jesse Brown, the home team broke through in the fourth for two runs, added a pair in the fifth and one more in the sixth. In all, PHIS rapped THS pitching for nine hits, including two each by Hal Logan and Tom Butterfoss, the team's leading slugger.

The key hit of the game was Nick Ryan's smash down the first base line with runners on second and third. Ryan, with a ball that appeared to hit the top of first base. The ball bounced off and struck Trenton first baseman Robin Bruggen on the side of the mouth. Both runners scored for the game's first two runs.

ONE OF MANY close calls at the base led by Trenton High coach Lou LiMato. Is this pick-off play on Princeton's Nick Logan, "Safe" call brought LiMato charging from the bench. PHIS won, 5-0.

The fair ball tiding brought Trenton coach Lou LiMato rushing out. He and Van Bruggen insisted the ball hit outside the base in foul territory. A protracted argument followed — it was threatening to rain at the time — with LiMato applying first to one umpire and then the other.

Butterfoss had opened the frame by getting Princeton's first hit. Nick Arcano followed with a punt single. Both advanced when Bob Salek was out on a close play at first.

Springer Homers. Jay Springer put the game out of reach in the following inning with a prodigiously hit ball between Trenton's center and left fielder. The home run also scored Hal Logan, who had gotten on with an infield hit. "I thought that ball was never going to come down," remarked the umpire after the game. "The funny thing about it," he added, "is he hit that right after LiMato claimed they were using a dead ball."

In the final inning, a walk to Gary Toth, Yoder's single and Logan's smash to third which was too hot to handle filled the sacks with one away. Springer's shot in third forced Toth but he was safe at first on a close play in the attempted double play, Yoder scoring. This brought LiMato charging out again.

However, after Butterfoss followed with a blooper that eluded the outstretched hands of the centerfielder, second baseman and shortstop, Logan was out trying to score at the plate.

Yoder then set the visitors down in order in their last chance. The last out was another close play at first and it was another defeat for the purple-hued LiMato. Trenton (11-4) had entered the fray fresh off a 2-0 victory the day before over Toms River in its first win in NJSIAA tourney play.

It was Princeton's finest performance of the season. The win was Yoder's fourth against three setbacks.

CRAFT LENGTHENS LEAD

In Little League Action, Craft Cleaners took two games in West Windsor Little League play last week to stretch their lead to a full game over Edinburg Hotel and Thomas Pharmacy.

Larry Martz led the Cleaners to an 11-5 win over Edinburg A. C., allowing four hits and striking out 11 while smashing two home runs and two singles in four trips to the plate. John Costas pitched a three-hitter as the Cleaners blanked the winless Lions, 3-0.

Edinburg edged past the First National Bank, 4-2, as Tim Carucci's single in the bottom of the sixth scored Bruce Coleman from third base. Winning pitcher Kevin Mason twirled a one-hitter, allowing only a third inning single to Bank pitcher Tim Morahan.

The Druggists scored 8 runs in the top of the sixth to defeat the Lions, 13-3. Phil Chambliss and Wes McClain hit solo homers for the Lions.

The Bank drubbed Ellsworth, 21-2, scoring 9 runs in the first and 8 in the fourth behind a 5-hitter by David Duncan. Scoring in every inning, the Bank attack was led by Greg Christensen, Moran and Duncan, who each scored three times.

The Athletics' two losses in the week dropped their record to 3-4, as they fell three games behind the front-running Cleaners. The Bankers ended the week in fifth with a 2-5 slate, as the Lions dropped six games off the pace with an 0-7 log.

Minor League Commissioner Tony Manna reported that more than 30 boys have formed four teams in the junior circuit, using both diamonds of the R. J. Ward Field.

NETEM WIN PAIR

Far 11-1 Record, The Princeton High School tennis team defeated New Brunswick and Franklin last week, both by scores of 5-0. The two victories increased the Little Tigers' record to 11-1.

"We were just too strong for them," commented Coach Bob Orr.

Ted Fritsch, Robbie Sonnenschein and Billy Liederman triumphed in singles play. The winning PHS doubles teams were comprised of Bill Carroll and Ted Ford and John Panzer and Scott Raam.

Following Wednesday's scheduled match with Princeton Day School, PHS was slated to end its season Friday at B.M.I. However, coach Orr reported the B.M.I. contest would have to be rescheduled because the Mercer County Tennis Tournament begins the same day. "I want my boys to enter that one," he said.

McGraw-Hill in Front
In BSI's Eastern Division. On the strength of a 9-1 thumping of RCA B last week, McGraw-Hill found itself in sole possession of first place in the eastern division of the Business Softball League. Three teams were deadlocked for top honors in the western.

McGraw Hill batters banged out 15 hits in support of winning pitcher Tom Wood, but a porous RCA B defense was guilty of seven errors, which aided the winner's scoring. Joe DeY and Angelo Vastl each collected three hits for McGraw-Hill.

Behind by a run in the bottom of the fifth, ERC erupted for 12 of its own and walked to a 2-1 verdict over FMC. Charlie Marinko's four bagger touched off the rally, which saw 13 men come to the plate collecting nine hits and two walks.

Before the deluge, FMC had twice rallied to take leads of 3-2 in the third inning and a 5-3 advantage in the fifth. Mike DeAngelo gained credit for the win, which gave ERC a share of first place in the division.

RCA A also scored a lopsided victory and held on to a 2-0 first place, besting Dow Jones, 22-5. John Meyer had four hits and Don Puliorik and Walt Hieinbohem contributed three apiece. Max Hopkins and Bob Nielson who pitched the seventh, limited Dow Jones to seven hits, with Harry Rooks and John Hadley collecting four of them.

Home runs by Russ Clothier, Larry Johnson and Dick Lenks powered RCA Astros to its second win against no losses and the other share of the top spot. Behind the fine pitching of Mo Amar, the Astros whipped ETS, 14-2.

Some last ditch heroics by American Cyanamid batters which tied the score in the bottom of the seventh, paved the way for an extra inning victory by Cyanamid over Hopewell TV, 4-3. Cliff Maurer's extra hit across the two tying markers, and doubles by Spence Carter and Bob Bosley accounted for the winning tally in the eighth. The triumph left Cyanamid with a 1-1 record.

A five for five performance by Pete Savalli highlighted a 25-hit attack by Accelerator which produced 25 runs and a 25-0 victory over ORC MDI. Ed J. John Ruzacek accounted for five RBIs. Vern Newell, had a homer and four RBIs and Tony Gervasio and Rick McKenrick each blasted three-base hits. Jack Barrow coasted to his first win of the season.

season contests. Carbon won all 16 games last year, before losing in the playoffs, and its first win this season, but was stopped by NCA 7-3.

Paul Mazzarella won the low hurdles — his specialty — by nearly 10 yards with a clocking of 21 seconds flat (the PHS record in that is 19.1) and placed second in the high hurdles.

Other second-place finishers for the Little Tigers were Charlie Madden in the shot (48-14 1/2"), Bob Upchurch in the high jump (5-8) and Al Benton in the mile (4:54.6).

Al Hicks of Trenton set a meet mark in the 880 of 1:55 (old mark 1:56) and Chuck Williams of Ewing tied the meet record of 9.9 in the 100.

Lawrence Overwhelmed. Led by co-captain Al Moring, PHS defeated visiting Lawrence High last week, 91-35, for its fourth dual meet win. It has lost six and tied one.

Moring set a high individual point total of 14 for the season by winning the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and tying teammate Dick Van Fleet for first in the high jump. Limited to performing in three events, the most any participant can score is 15 points.

Mazzarella added 10 more by capturing both hurdles as PHS won 11 of 14 events. Other first-place finishers were Jeff White in the discus; Hutch Smith, 880; Upchurch, vault; Madden, shot; Solotorovsky, 440; and Lawder, two-mile.

ANNUAL REGATTA HELD On Lake Carnegie. Cooper River Yacht Club took the top four places in the Carnegie Sailing Club's seventh annual Carnegie Cup GP-14 Regatta Saturday, leading 25 boats in the five races held.

Peter Weygant finished in first place, followed by Ed Cotter, Scott Law and Norman Williams. Tom Huntington was the top finisher among Carnegie skippers, with daughter Debra as crew.

Carnegie's own races were held Sunday. Ed Metcalf, with Ken Peterson crewing, scored 35, 5 points out of a possible 38.5 to win the Penguin class, as seven boats competed in five races. Dexter Miller finished second and John Hopfield third.

Jerry Lawson with his wife Nancy as crew, skippered his 14-foot sloop to a first place over four other boats in the class, in four races. Mr. Huntington took second and Bob Wilson was third.

HAMILTON FALLS, 75-51

To PHS Track Team. Princeton High School runners dominated the flat races Monday afternoon to hand visiting Hamilton High School its fifth dual meet setback, 75-51.

The Little Tigers swept the 440 and the mile. John Westfeld (55.4), Warren Appel and Bob Best finished 1-2-3 in the 440 and Al Benton (4:52.8), John Peterson and Bob Laplan did the same in the mile.

Paul Mazzarella won both hurdle events with times of 16.2 and 20.9, while Hutch Smith won the 880 in 2:09.8 and Keith Lawder the two-mile. John Wallmark was second in the two-mile.

John Giraldi of Hamilton and Bob Upchurch tied for first place in the high jump at 5-8. Ron McEwen took third for the Blue and White. Charlie Madden won the shot and placed second behind teammate Jeff White in the discus.

Al Moring finished second in the broad jump for the victors and Skip Hultin and Tom Taylor tied for third. Hamilton's best effort came in the javelin which it swept.

TRACKMEN AT ASBURY

For South Jersey Meet. With the ending of its dual meet competition this week against Hamilton, the Princeton High School track team moves into the final week of activity.

Coach Larry Irvan's squad will be at Asbury Park Saturday for the South Jersey Sectionals in which time trials will begin at 11. On Wednesday, they will participate in the Group 4 Meet at Madison (starting at 2:30) and next Saturday the top performers on the team will compete in the annual State Meet at Rutgers University stadium. In the latter, there will be no team winner, only individual champions.

The top five in the standings of the annual Southern Division meet Saturday was a carbon copy of the leaders in the Mercer County meet held ten days earlier. PHS captured third place behind Ewing and Steinert while Trenton and Hamilton trailed the Little Tigers. Team scoring was Ewing, 86; Steinert, 45; PHS, 36; Trenton, 24; and Hamilton, 19.

Keith Lawder set a meet record of 10:47 in the two-mile, bettering by six seconds the mark set by Joe Pluto of Ewing. Greg Ivin of Steinert, the leading two-miler in the area, did not participate in the meet because of illness.

Breaks 16-year PHS Mark. Julian Solotorovsky came within nine-tenths of a second of tying the meet record in the 440. As it was, his time of 50.1 broke the second-oldest existing Princeton High School track record. Julian bettered the 50.7 set by Clyde Thomas 16 years ago in 1982. The oldest school track record is the 1:59.6 for the 880 set by Joe

SEASON ENDS FRIDAY
FOR PHS Lacrosse Team
 A Princeton High School lacrosse team eager to continue its recent upsurge will close out its 1968 season Friday at 4 on the Community Park field against Lawrenceville. The Larries hold an 11-4 verdict over PHS, but Coach Bob Arbaugh's squad thinks it may be a different story in the return meeting.

The Blue and White bases its reasoning on a six-goal fourth-period outburst Tuesday against the George School, an accomplishment that gave PHS its second victory in its last three games. John Rice's goals in the game, the best individual performance this spring, sparked the rally.

The Little Tigers had a slim 3-2 margin at the half, and Princeton could not score in the third period. Then they took charge, as everything they had needed for this spring suddenly fell into place.

Houston Webber added two goals to the victors' total, and was also credited with a pair of assists. Single tallies were scored by Matt Alexander, Pat McCrohan and Bob Cooper.

DOWN THE WIRE

In Penn-Jersey League, The eventual winner of the Penn-Jersey League, following Hun School's failure to claim the title for itself last week, has come down to the final week of play.

Hun with one game to play against Pennington is presently in the lead by a half game with a 7-2 record. Perkiomen, 6-2, had two games to play.

Hun was scheduled to end its league play Wednesday at Pennington. Its final game will be a non-league affair with Princeton Day School Friday at 3:30 at the PDS diamond.

A 6-2, most win over Bryn Athyn Friday on the latter field enabled Hun to keep its league lead. Ken Kelly (4-1) gave up only three hits to the home team, two of them bunt singles.

The Red and Black collected eight hits — the biggest bases-loaded triple by first baseman Mike Ross, and shortstop, returning after being sidelined by an injury — drove in Hun's first run.

Last week at Perkiomen, Hun dropped its chances to take home all the marbles early when it was blanked 9-0. Heri Sacker's double was the lone Hun hit.

Perkiomen's rapped a losing pitcher Billy Mann for nine hits as it scored five runs in the third and two each in the fourth and sixth innings.

RUN KIDS CLOCKING

Held by bicyclet Club, the Lucerne Kuhn captured the latest in a series of timetrials held by the Princeton Bicyclet Club Sunday, with a time of 14 minutes and 16 seconds, beating Al Bellan by eight seconds.

The times were relatively slow owing to a strong wind. Following in third place was Tom Lederer, 14 minutes and 20 seconds; fourth, Malcolm Robb, 15 minutes and 40 seconds; and fifth, Fred Lepore, 15 minutes 40 seconds.

League leaders: Senior Division, Lederer 29 points; Robb and Bellan, 12 each. Junior Division, Jim Morgan, 26; Kuhn and Pete McCandless, 9 each.

LACROSSE CLUB WINS

For No. 1 Rating, The New Jersey Lacrosse Club, following its 16-5 victory Sunday over the Connecticut Valley Lacrosse Club, has a 6-1 record. According to Coach Hawley Waterman, it now holds the number one spot in the country club teams.

After Saturday's game with the West Point Jayvees — a non-league contest — the New Jersey Club will play the Long Island Lacrosse Club (5-1) for the championship. The team's head basketball coach at Hun, led the New Jersey slicken last week with six goals. Phil Allen, former Princeton University star, added three goals and three assists, and John Howes had three goals and an assist. Dick Norwalk, Gibbs Lamotte, Karl Pettit and Cap Beattie also scored.

PHS BLANKED, 3-0

By Hamilton 2 Hitter, Limited to two hits by Hamilton's Dennis Rowley, the Princeton High School baseball team won an easy 3-0 victory Monday afternoon at the home team's Hornets. The win was Hamilton's 14th of the season and defeat number ten for the losers.

Hamilton scored all its runs in the third inning after two were out when the top four men in the batting order stroked consecutive singles. After that, the Hornets collected only two hits off starter Jeff Haring, who worked the first four innings and Thom Foster, who pitched the last two.

The only Little Tigers to solve Rowley (4-1) were Tom Butterfoss and shortstop Dave Drake. Still, PHS managed to put runners on base in every inning but the first and last. In the second PHS had a runner on third with one away but the next two batters struck out.

Haring's record is now 3-3. The Little Tigers are 6-10.

JUN WINS, LOSES

In Lacrosse, The High School defeated George School, 6-3, in lacrosse Saturday, after earlier absorbing a 9-3 setback at the hands of Lawrenceville to bring its record to 6-5. Only this Wednesday's game with Princeton Day School remained on the schedule.

Not Williams scored three goals in the George School contest for Hun and Roy Rumble had three assists. Keith Kline, Steve Brooks and Chip Husford added single tallies. Bob Strainese, Rumble and Husford scored against Lawrenceville.

Lawrenceville was just too much for us," said Hun coach Hawley Waterman.

CLASSES ANNOUNCED

For Summer Tennis, The summer schedule of tennis classes offered by the Princeton Community Tennis Program for boys in grades three through 12 and girls in grades four through 12, is ready for distribution. Copies of the brochure may be picked up at the Recreation office in Township Hall.

The season begins June 17 and continues through August 23, but players may also register on a weekly basis if they plan to be out of town during part of the summer. A special introductory clinic for second and third graders and classes for adults are also available.

An expanding feature each year is the advanced program for those wishing to play a full schedule in tennis. Round exchange matches and tournament competition, as well as an opportunity to train as a tennis coach, are included through the student leader corps. John Conroy, Princeton University tennis coach, will again be in charge of the advanced program, aided by Bill Werts, a member of the University's varsity tennis team which tied for the Eastern League title with Penn and Princeton.

Also returning as instructor this year are: Mrs. Lewis Kraft, director of the Princeton Community Tennis Program; Norman Van Arsdale, director of physical education, Princeton Regional School; William Humes, varsity tennis coach, Princeton High School; Joseph Dielenbach, physical education instructor, Princeton Regional Schools; Bayard Jordan, local tennis professional and former tournament player.

Also Tom Sutherland, former varsity player and assistant coach, U. S. Naval Academy; James, assistant athletic coach, Princeton Regional School; Nancy Foley, physical education instructor, Princeton Regional School; Nancy Rosenthal, and Linda Conroy, instructor in PCPT for the past three summers.

ROSSO'S CAFE WINS

In Women's Bowling League, Rosso's Cafe, winner of the third round of the Women's Bowling League, captured the league championship last week in a roll-off between the other round champions, Kingsway Motors, and Mike's Sinclair Station.

The high team series of 2339 was fashioned by Rosso's, while Mike's Sinclair captured the high team game of 136.

To win the third round, Russo's caught longtime leader Rocky & Sons in the first round of play, which was position tight, garnering six points to two for Rocky & Sons. This led to two deadlocked at 64 points each. Russo's went on to win the three-game tie-in roll-off.

In the third round final standings Swift's Colonial Diner was third with 62 points, Mike's Sinclair fourth with 52 and Kingsway Motors fifth with 48. Other league teams are Hampshire House, Tiger, Ring Mart Yardsticks, Turney Motor Co., and Cranbury Bank.

Individual leaders in the last night of play were Marilyn Silverstein, Betty Cooper, Flo Davis and Betty Frazee, all of Rosso's with games of 187, 191, 179 and 178 respectively.

Helen F. Scott of Kingsway had 178; Millie Dowling of Cranbury Bank 172; Carol Osborn of Swift's 170 and Betty Pinelli of Mike's 170.

Firemen's League last week, two games to none. It marked the first time Dutch Neck has won the league crown.

In a second roll-off for third place, K.F.D. defeated Kingsway in two straight games. High scorers in the roll-off were Paul Terecky of KFD with a 204, Charles Appleget of Dutch Neck with 193, Walt Herrman Jr. of KFD with 188 and George Luck of Kingston with 180.

Operators moved to within one point of Turkey, 41-40, for the lead in the Blue Angels Hi-Y League. Originals is third with 32.

Gary Grob had the high single game of 174, Jim Silverstein had the best two games, 166-162 while Bill Janney was the most consistent, rolling 162-159-150 for 471. Mike Skillman had a 155.

With one week of play remaining, Rocky Hill Inn claims a 68-66 margin for the top spot in the Business Women's League over runner-up Princeton Taxi. If Rocky Hill, winner of the first half of play, can get by the final night — position night — it will win the league title. Bucci Builders and Monmouth are all even at 60-60.

Individually, Alice Potts won the TOWN TOPICS Award for best single game of the week with her 179. Carole Harris leveled the most pins on games of 209-186-171 for a 506 series. Helen Tamasi had 201, Peg Ranallo, 194; Margaret Drummond, 182 and Diane Fowler, 181-180. All are former TOWN TOPICS winners.

Soaring Into the Wild Blue

Model Airplane Hobby Grows

Above a large open field near U.S. 1, several airplanes near against the spring sky. They circle and dip, perform looping-the-loop, and drop parachutes into targets.

Suddenly one plane appears to have run into trouble; the escape hatch flies open, and the pilot ejects, drifting to the ground carried by his parachute. His plane flies on without him and, seemingly miraculously, comes in for a smooth landing.

All the scene lacks in order to fool the eye completely, is real concern shown for the safety of the pilot. Contrary to the ground crew at a real airport, the men on the field are more concerned about the safety of the equipment and rush to examine the just-landed plane. After all, the ejected pilot is made of plastic and not liable to get hurt during his soft landing, while the radio-controlled model airplane is easily damaged.

The Mercer County Radio Control Society flies planes on a field near the Princeton Motor Lodge on U.S. 1 (take the left turn, left turn, left turn, and drive for about a half-mile till the first large open space). It is characterized by the national enemy of Model Aeronautics. The charter means that the Mercer County group has at least 50 members, each of whom are covered by liability insurance of $100,000.

The need for this large insurance becomes apparent.

When one realizes that the top speed for a radio-controlled model airplane has been clocked at 130 miles an hour. Beginners usually start with planes which have a 30-mile-per-hour true mileage and fly with rudder-control only.

Later on, the opportunities for flying fascinating planes with a great variety of functions are virtually unlimited. There are rubber- or gas-powered free flight planes, gliders which rely on low-launching and fly on wind currents, and control-line planes, powered by a special engine fuel.

Can Build From Kits. "The planes can do anything a real plane can do," says Robert Price, a former pilot and now owner of Caprice Beauty Salon, 282 Alexander Street. "The controls are set up like a real airplane. Through the transmitter the operator can control the rudder control, wing flaps, ailerons, lights, and throttle control."

The fact that most people build their planes from kits available through hobby shops means that this is an ideal way for young people to learn about aerodynamics. Putting the planes together step by step and then making them perform all the functions of an actual plane is excellent training and a satisfying offer for anyone who is air-minded, regardless of age."

Needed to fly a radio-controlled model airplane is a citizens radio station license, and membership in the Academy of Model Aeronautics. Getting his own plane off the ground is not within reach of most teenagers — a one-rudder-control plane easily costs around $150. A really elegant kit for a plane that will do almost everything short of taking on passengers can cost as much as $400.

or buy is limited only by the imagination of the designer. One can find model planes with skis, pontoons, DeLings — you name it.

There are jets and propeller planes, of course, and within each category the hobbyist has innumerable choices, like making a copy of a famous World War II plane, a supersonic jet, or a two-stage rocket. Many model airplane flyers develop designs of their own or improvise and add to already existing designs.

Once off the ground, the planes — many with a wing span of 5 or 6 feet — participate in simulated air battles, but balloons as part of precision flying, or perform acrobatic flying. Contests are held, according to regulations set forth in a closely printed 80-page book of "official Model Aircraft Regulations."

The planes are flown all week, year round — "whoever is off from work, can often be found out here," says Mr. Price — but the best chance for observing them in action is Sunday afternoon. Limited numbers of spectators are welcome. Mr. Price recommends to anyone interested in taking up this hobby that he should first join a club and spend some time watching and listening before beginning to invest in the equipment.

BEER IS STOLEN

From Legion Post. Twenty-four bottles of beer were reported stolen from American Legion Post 218 on Lytle Street early Saturday morning. A resident who called at 2:17 a.m. told police of seeing four Negro males running through a side yard adjacent to the Post.

Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt recovered six bottles a short distance away and seven more were found the next morning in a rear yard at 15 Lytle. Entrance was gained through the front door, although police said there was no sign of forced entry. The thieves exited through a rear door.

A large amount of food was strewn about the floor of the post's kitchen, police said. Mrs. John Roe, secretary at the Christian Scientist Reading Room, 178 Nassau, called police Friday morning to report that $29 had been stolen from her desk. There was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Scheide Home Entered. The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Scheide, 133 Library Place, was entered last week, the gardener reported.

Police said that jewelry and other articles were strewn about and all bureau doors throughout the house were ransacked. It appears nothing was taken. "They were apparently looking for cash," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan. Entry was gained by forcing a storm window on the side of the house after an attempt to force the front door failed. Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. John J. Bellow investigated.

BIRTHS

Fifteen Bora. Eight boys and seven girls were born last week in Princeton Hospital. Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Nevius, 36 Leigh Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Skok, 13 Hilltop Court, Jamesburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Utter, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction. All on May 12; Mr. and Mrs. John Talbot, Magle Apartments, Faculty Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Angela Rivera, Canal Road, Griggstown, both on May 13; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Iyer, 111 Wilmor Drive, Hightstown, May 14; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Guerlain, 111 Spruce Street, May 16; and Mr. and Mrs. James Craig, 322 Bellevue Avenue, Trenton, May 18.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Tamas Szepes, N. Mill Road, Princeton Junction, May 12; Mr. and Mrs. James Hunsel, Alexander Road, May 13; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Salzman, 1903 Nottingham Way, Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. —Continued on Next Page

IN MEMORIAM

For Riverside Teacher, A memorial fund in honor of Miss Ruth Popofsky, Riverside School teacher who died April 22, will be established by the Teachers' Organization of the school.

The P. T.O. is asking for ideas on the best way to perpetuate Miss Popofsky's memory, and a two-page letter citing her gifts as a teacher and giving biographical information, has been sent to every Riverside home.

Miss Popofsky taught third and fourth grades at Riverside. Before coming to Princeton, she had taught in New York City, and she took her Princeton third graders on a visit to the third graders of PS 1400 in New York, youngsters who come from a background quite different from that of Riverside children.

A writer and editor as well as a teacher, Miss Popofsky worked for Crown Publishers and had stories published in "New Voices, American Writing Today" (1953) and "New Voices 2" (1955). She contributed to a text on language arts and life patterns and collaborated in revising an elementary language text.

Contributions and ideas on how to use them, may be sent to the office of Riverside School. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Nancy Bruce, 924-1073.

MARCHERS ANNOUNCED

For Memorial Day Parade, Princeton's Memorial Day Parade, sponsored by American Legion Post 76, will have several groups of marchers, including police and firemen, army units from Fort Dix and two bands. The parade will begin promptly at 11 a.m. Thursday, May 30 from Princeton Avenue and proceed on Nassau Street to the Battle Monument.

Included in the line of march will be: Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan, will be Borough Township and West Windsor officials; the Princeton High School band, Army and Navy ROTC contingents from Princeton University, an Army unit from Fort Dix, colors, guards and colors of Posts 218 and 76, the V.E.W. members, band, members of Princeton's three volunteer fire companies and the First Aid and Rescue Squad.

A memorial mass will be held in St. Paul's Church by the Rev. Edward C. Henry at 9:30 a.m. with Post 76 firing squad rituals conducted in the parish cemetery at 9:30 under the command of Leo McCloskey. Post 218 will hold memorial rituals in the Princeton Cemetery with Leon Holland Jr. in charge.

TWO LOSE LICENSES

For Speeding, Two Princeton area drivers have had their licenses suspended by the state's Division of Motor Vehicles for speeding.

William R. Chandler, 28, Windsor Castle Road, Cranbury lost his for 30 days, and J. W. Holt, 38, 29 Scott Lane, lost his for one month. Mr. Holt was convicted in Connecticut in accordance with a reciprocity agreement between the two states.

Dan E. Sullivan, 38, 220 Wadsworth Drive, surrendered his license for one month on points.

CHILD UNIT APPEALS

For Capital Funds, Princeton Nursery School at 78 Leigh Avenue has launched its first campaign for building funds in its nearly 40 years of existence. The goal is $40,000 to start the "Evangeline E. Miller Branch" for kindergarten, named in honor of the school's director since 1936.

"We are particularly concerned about the children of kindergarten age," Mrs. Sidney Blaxill, president of the trustees, said in opening the appeal. "When our four-year-olds leave us, it is very difficult for their working mothers to make good plans."

The trustees would like to buy property near a Princeton school to provide after school care for two shifts of kindergartners. While the property has not been chosen, the trustees are seeking contributions so that they will have the funds and equipment ready when a five-year-old finishes school and a one-half hour, he can come to us and not to an expensive sitter, a harassed relative or friend, or an empty house," Mrs. Blaxill said.

Medium-Price Range Sought. We visualize a house in the medium-price range with adequate outdoor play space. In view of the morning and afternoon shifts in kindergarten, we would utilize the property for a maximum number of children of kindergarten age," Mrs. Blaxill, inspiring leadership, we would like to name this house the "Evangeline E. Miller Branch of the Princeton Nursery School."

Princeton Nursery School has cared for the children of working mothers since 1929. The children are age 3 to kindergarten. The school operates at its full capacity of 40, and there is a waiting list as long as the enrollment. The operating budget is met by donations set on a sliding scale and by the United Fund. The Miller Branch operating expenses would be met the same way.

"Our walls can't stretch,"

ADDITIONS TO SECONDARY SCHOOL LIBRARIES: William McGuire, managing editor of Bollingen Series published by the Princeton University Press, presents a selection of the books to Mrs. Roger McDonough, librarian of the Princeton Regional Schools, and Gertrude Thurber, librarian at Lawrenceville School. Both are members of the Secondary School Library Committee.

News Of The CHURCHES

ROCK SOUND OFFERED
In "Electric Mass." A rock mass will be presented by the Episcopal campus minister at five West Virginia University students, at 8 p.m. this Sunday in Princeton University Chapel.

"We could do with a shocking, splendid, spiritual surprise," is the comment of Dean Ernest Gordon in sponsoring the service, first of its kind at Princeton. A new and exciting example of the use of contemporary music in worship today.

Celebrant at the service, which will follow the liturgy of the Episcopal Church, will be the Rev. Michael Paine, a member of the Princeton class of 1962 and Episcopal campus minister at West Virginia The Rev. Rowland J. Cox, Episcopal chaplain at Princeton, will assist.

The Electric Mass has been offered this spring at Trinity Episcopal Church and Wesley Methodist Church in Morgantown, W. Va., and at the Church of St. Stephen and the Episcopate in Washington, D.C.

According to lead guitarist John Vaughan, the modern music communication service was conceived last semester and discussed during Christmas vacation with the help of Norris Lytton. The pair showed the outline for the eight-member mass to other members of the group, including drums; Larry McClurg, vocalist; and Jack Bond, organist.

Vaughan composed most of the tunes, with the full group developing the harmony and rhythms. Arrangements stress a heart-beat, primitive, rhythmic and what is termed "consecutive tone."

MEN'S CHOIR TO SING
Durale Mass To Be Heard. The second American performance of Maurice Strakosky's Messe "Cum Jubilo" for men's choir will be given at 8 p.m. Thursday in Trinity Episcopal Church.

Conducted by James Litton, Trinity organist and chorale leader, a choir of men's voices from Westminster Choir College will perform the Latin mass during a celebration of the Episcopal new trial liturgy. John Van Sant, Westminster senior, will be at the organ.

In place of a sermon, Karin Gustafson, also a Westminster senior, will play the Ascension Suite by Olivier Messiaen. She will play Durale's Prelude and Fugue on the Name ALAIN as a prelude to the service.

The Messe "Cum Jubilo" was first performed in Amic America last February in Washington Cathedral, sung by students of the Cathedral College of Church Musicians.

The new trial liturgy, which will be celebrated by the Rev. Rugby Auer, Trinity vicar, who is also chaplain to Episcopal students at Westminster.

TO STRESS CREATIVITY
At Vacation Church School. Professionally-trained art and music teachers will be on the staff of the vacation church school to be held by the three Presbyterian churches on weekday mornings from June 23 to 28. The curriculum will accept creativity.

Mrs. Burnett H. Sams is director of the school, which is planned for children ages 3 to 5 of January 1, 1968, through those who will complete second grade this June. An experienced physical education teacher has been retained for recreation activities.

Deadline for registration is June 2. Applications may be made at any of the three churches.

YOUTH TO LEAD WORSHIP
At Rosedale Chapel. Students and teachers of the Sunday school will conduct the 11 a.m. service this Sunday in Rosedale Chapel.

Participants include Jed

St. Andrew's to Trinity

William Knight, Princeton Seminary senior who has been assistant to the Rev. F. Hugh Liffitt at St. Andrew's since last fall, will preach his last sermon at the church this Sunday at 10:30. His topic is "You Tell Them, Timothy."

Mr. Knight, one of the most deeply involved of the Princeton youth workers, will be a leader in youth activities being directed this summer by Trinity Church.

A fellowship coffee hour will follow Sunday's service at St. Andrew's.

TOUR THE TREES

On Lawrenceville Campus. William Flemer of Princeton Nurseries will conduct a public tree tour of the Lawrenceville campus at 2 Saturday. Those wishing to join the tour, through the auspices of the Shade Tree Advisory Committee of Lawrence Township and the school, should meet behind the Lavino Fieldhouse on the campus.

The little-known but outstanding collection at the school is the result of the efforts of Frederick L. Olmsted, co-designer of New York's Central Park. In 1874 he traveled in Europe collecting plants and specimen trees for the park.

His collection was shared with the Morris Arboretum in Jenkintown, Pa., the Arnold Arboretum in Cambridge, Mass., and the school. Mr. Olmsted selected 360 trees for the campus, and several of the surviving specimens may be among the largest and oldest of their kind in the country. Among the more rare specimens on the grounds are a Yellowwood tree, Chinese Oak, Cedar of Lebanon, Tipton spruce, Numidiana fir, Dwarf redwood, Bald cypress and Oriental spruce.

PICNIC, BASEBALL SET
By YMCA. The YMCA has scheduled a family picnic, several games and the annual all-star midge baseball league contest for members and friends for Memorial Day.

The family program will be held at 3:30 p.m. with a swim. At 5 families may cook dinner and participate in softball, volleyball, tug-of-war and a variety of races with ribbons. Prizes will be given for winning. Folk singing and a general family group sing will climax the evening's activities.

Beverages, charcoal and grills will be provided; those planning to attend are asked to call the YMCA office to help in the planning. The baseball game will begin at 1 p.m. with all-stars from the National League facing those from the American in a popular event dating back 15 years.

COME SEE MY GARDEN
For Scholarship Fund. The Japanese gardens and Bonsai collection of Mrs. Polly Fairman will be on view from this Saturday through Saturday, June 2, for the benefit of the Elizabeth Taylor Boyd Scholarship Fund.

The gardens, at 193 Mt. Lucas Road, will be open from 1-6 p.m. Admission is $2, children free. Proceeds will go into the scholarship fund to provide financial help for Negro young people of Princeton.

VOLUNTEERS WELCOME
At Kennedy Offices. There are openings for volunteers at the Kennedy for Princeton headquarters, 195 Nassau Street. Committees already active include fund raising, office staff, publicity, registration, and student coordinating. The office is open full time; the number to call is 297-7401. The Trenton office is at 21 N. Warren Street (392-7377). Merion County was the first in New Jersey to open full-time volunteer offices for the nomination and election of Robert F. Kennedy for President.

WELFARE MEETING HELD
For Princeton Staff. "Problems of the New Poor" was the topic of a panel discussion scheduled for this Wednesday during the morning session of the spring conference of the Municipal Welfare Employees Association and the County Welfare Directors Association of New Jersey.

The day-long conference at the Nassau Inn has been planned by Mrs. Jane A. Abens, director of welfare for Princeton Borough. The Rev. Edward Smith of the First Baptist Church of Princeton, delivered the invocation at the morning discussion.

"Guaranteed Income" was the topic covered by Miss Heather Moss, research economist for the National, Inc. of Princeton at the afternoon meeting.

TILE ART ON DISPLAY

At Public Library. An exhibit of more than 80 tiles decorated with both modern designs and reproductions of medieval patterns is on display at the Princeton Public Library through Saturday.

The artist is Dick Swann, better known for his books on cycling and work as manager of Kopp's Cycle Shop on College Street. The majority of the designs follow medieval patterns, that Mr. Swann has managed to piece together from 600-year-old fragments found in ancient English churches.

Some in a modern vein join at contemporary sculpture, as example, the "Materialism" design, which shows three men worshipping a coin on a triple-tiered pedestal. Another shows an automobile on one half of the tile and a row of grave-stones on the other. Others depict more pleasing scenes. Mr. Swann has designed several sets of tiles for churches and public buildings in England. His book on the 600-year-old tiles of St. Mary de Castro, Leicester, England, is available at the library.

SUICIDE ATTEMPTED

By Soto in Jail Cell. Jose Soto, 29-year-old accused slayer of bank teller Mrs. Kirsti Pfister, reportedly tried commit suicide last week in his cell in Mercer County Jail. A guard discovered Soto bleeding during a search in the cell block for a missing razor blade. He had cut his left forearm with a jagged edge of stainless steel cut hand.

After his wound was treated, Soto was examined by Dr. Ronald Potash who ordered him sent to a State Hospital for observation.

Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohon reported Tuesday that he had discussed the incident with Matthew Maloney, Mercer County Detective Association.

Obituaries

Mrs. Blanche S. Ferrey, 105, died May 17 in the Merwick unit of Princeton Hospital. She was the widow of Edgar S. Ferrey, who died in 1916.

A native of Davenport, Ia., Mrs. Ferrey was an avid reader and a health and diet enthusiast in her later years.

Until moving to Merwick two years ago, she resided at the home of her four daughters, frequently visiting relatives and friends in Princeton and Swarthmore.

Surviving are her daughters, Mrs. Robert Fuller of Scarsdale, N.Y.; Mrs. Herbert Dickman of Newton, N.J.; Mrs. Edward J. Easton of St. Paul, Minn.; and Mrs. John Dellinger of Tyler, Tex.; 12 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren, one of whom is Miss Leslie Bush of Princeton, Olympic gold medalist diver.

The service was held at the home of her daughter in Scarsdale. Interment was also in Scarsdale.

Mrs. Marjorie Thompson Jahn, 70, of Raymond Road, Kingston, died May 20 at Marlboro. A native of Elizabeth, she had moved to Kingston last year after spending most of her life in Long Branch.

Widow of Gottwald Jahn, who died on May 2, she is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Elsie Hollander, with whom she lived; Mrs. Mildred Moran of Spokane; Mrs. Evelyn Hager of Salerno, Fla.; Mrs. Emma Buck of Oceanport, N.J.; and Mrs. Helen Dievendoff of Denham Spring, La. Sixteen grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive.

The service was held at the Kingston Presbyterian Church, the Rev. James L. Meahan officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery.

Mrs. Adele B. Fromm, 67, died May 20 at her home, 315 Monmouth Street, Hightstown.

He was a retired clerk for the Charles R. Field & Son Lumber Company.
Born in Italy, Mrs. Fromm lived in Hightstown for 35 years. There are no immediate survivors.

Requiem mass was celebrated in St. Anthony's Church, with interment in St. Rose of Lima Cemetery, Frehold.

Herbert M. Hicks, 89, died May 16 at his home, 49 S. Main Street, Pennington. He was a retired farmer. Eighty-five descendants survive him.
Born in Lynchburg, Va., Mr. Hicks lived in Pennington since 1922. He was the widower of Mrs. Mae E. Hicks.

Surviving are five sons, Mitchell, Walter, Rennie and Harry, all of Pennington; and Floyd of Elk Garden, W. Va.; five daughters, Mrs. Harry Allen of Pennington, Mrs. Francis Crum of Washington Crossing, Mrs. Charles Thompson of Newviem, Mrs. James Terry of Morrisville and Mrs. Henry Heusinkveld of Boyden, Ia.; 42 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Pennington, the Rev. Rollo Michael of Pennington Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Harborton Cemetery.

Haines P. Matlack of Diver, Road, Hopewell Township, died May 16 in Helene Fuld Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was the husband of Mrs. Ethel E. Matlack.

A lifelong resident of the Trenton area, Mr. Matlack retired eight years ago as an employee of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Richard Manning of Lakehurst and Mrs. Joseph Reppart of Trenton; three sons, Norman W. of Trenton, William B. of Los Angeles, Calif., and Daniel E. Knaener of Granton, Conn.

ON LOVELY HONEY LAKE $86,500

Guests will gravitate to a truly inspired kitchen-dining room with easy old mission fireplace, warm wall paper, leaded window kitchen cabinets, unusual island working area with Spanish post light and, to top it all, an electronic oven on roast ready in 10 minutes.

They might find it hard, however, to leave the lake and woods view thru the Thermopane window wall from high ceilings living and dining room also with fireplace. Huge redwood deck with outdoor fireplace handles entertaining overflow nicely. We used a rear view picture here so the understated front would not be misleading.

Elegant family room with another fireplace and window seat overlooks the lake as well thru large windows. Master bedroom with fireplace, private deck and dressing room adds more cosiness and luxury while a huge fifth bedroom dormitory adds practicality for a large family.

Three compartmented and unusual bathrooms lend another touch of the originality that captured this designer in this delightful, completely carpeted old brick and redwood home with 3,000 sq. ft. of living area, 3 car garage on 1.35 lakefront acres with best deck in beautiful Elm Ridge Park.

It faces weather
other small cars shouldn't

Rain slicked roads and high winds are enough to make the driver of an ordinary small car wonder what he's doing behind the wheel. But not in a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and out of trouble. And there's more: Most ordinary small cars don't give, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. And as an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE. SAAB
Ask about our new SAAB Leasing Program. You can drive it like a big car.

It does things
other small cars

Cornering at high speeds is one of the best things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE. SAAB

THE GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST
... How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . .
we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so

By Cindy Brooks
I am a soul searching for something far beyond life and death, taking everything in my long, dark journey that's in my way. And a body, drifting from place to place without me knowing it. Laughing on the outside, crying on the inside. I'm trying to hide all of my fears, meanness and hates in a stone wall. But somehow it comes out unexpected! When I meet other boys and girls it's as if there's a mask on our faces; that's just how shy I am. But when they smile and ask me to play, our masks melt away.
